Civil War Rages In Haiti, Mobs Storm Capital

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 25 (AP)— Apparent civil war flared today from Haiti's bitter and tumultous political feuding.

Mobs raged through the streets of Port au Prince, looting, burning and storming buildings.

Small arms fire crackled throughout the capital as two rival chiefs of staff battled for control of the army and Haiti.

Coast Guard artillery began firing into the city in midafternoon.

Soon after this dispatch was sent all cable communication between Haiti and New York was cut.

An attendant at the radio station eight miles outside Port au Prince—the last point in Haiti that could be reached by telephone—said he was closing down "because the situation is going from bad to worse."

The attendant said there was no telephone communication between his station and the city and that strikes had halted all transport.

("There are many rioters and it's getting very dangerous," he said. "I must get back to my home.")

Police Chief Col. Pierre Armand attempted a coup by seizing army headquarters.

He was trying to replace Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave, the army chief of staff who overthrew the Negro republic's civilian Executive Council last Tuesday.

But Cantave refused to submit, and the army split wide open. The coast guard appeared to be backing Armand.

The forces of Armand and Cantave were reported to have clashed at the international airport outside the capital.

The nation's police, air force, coast guard and firefighters joined tumultuous demonstrations backing Armand, who took over control of army headquarters. But Gen. Cantave, surrounded by hundreds of soldiers at nearby DesSalines Barracks, refused to surrender.

In a broadcast he called upon troops in the five provinces outside the capital and the people to rise in war against those who control Port au Prince.

He accused Sen. Louis DeJoie, a leading presidential candidate in Haiti's six months of political feuding, of "plunging the country into civil war."

He apparently was relying upon the outer provinces and the bulk of the army of 5,500 regulars and reserves to support him.

Showers Lurk In Area Today

Partly cloudy with widely scattered thundershowers Sunday afternoon and evening was the weather forecast for Louisana issued last night.

Arkansas is expected to be cloudy with thunderstorms and high winds Sunday.

The maximum temperature here Saturday was 90 degrees, and the low for the day was 72 degrees.

Rainfall recorded at Selman Field until 6:30 p.m. Saturday was .53 of an inch.

No 'Blank Check' For Ike–Johnson

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said today Congress is not going to write any long term "blank checks" for foreign aid.

In what sounded like a death knell for the Eisenhower administration's plea for a no-time-limit tag on overseas assistance, Johnson said Congress will not "surrender" the right to an annual checkup on the program.

Speaking in somewhat the same vein, Republican Leader Knowland of California predicted in a separate interview that Congress will put a "restrainer" on a proposed international development

Ike Settles Argument On Disarmament

Stassen Wins Tussle With Adm. Radford

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower settled an argument in his official family today and directed Harold Stassen to negotiate with Russia for a disarmament treaty designed to bring the atomic arms race to an early end.

After a dramatic White House meeting of the President and high aides, it was announced that issues had been "resolved". Stassen is speeding back to London tomorrow to resume the arms control talks Monday.

Stassen, the administration's disarmament specialist, apparently won the basic instructions he had been seeking in a 10-day behind-the-scenes tussle with Adm. Arthur W. Radford, wh has been bearish about the chances of any trustworthy pact with the Soviets. Radford had no comment.

The U. S. position finally approved by the President will aim at restricting possession of atomic weapons to the United States, Britain and France, ending their manufacture of any more such weapons and, with full safeguards will seek to limit and later stop atomic tests.

Along with these negotiating goals for the five power London talks Stassen is to try to work out agreements for reductions in manpower, weapons and military budgets and zones for aerial inspection exchanges between Russia and the United States.

Secretary of State Dulles announced when the 2½ hour White House session ended that President Eisenhower had made final decisions on Stassen's new instructions and that "unresolved issues (on disarmament policy) were resolved today by the President."

Presumably this meant Eisenhower had himself laid out the course to be followed between Stassen's advice to do everything reasonably possible to get a disarmament agreement and the warning of Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that "we cannot trust the Russians on this or anything."

4 Convicts Kidnap Guard, Escape Prison

PARCHMAN, Miss., May 25 (AP)—Four prisoners, three of them serving 25 years to life for armed robbery, kidnaped their guard today and fled Mississippi state penitentiary in his automobile.

Supt. Bill Harpole, who said the four were to be considered dangerous, identified them as:

John Cornette, 26, Ohio, 25 years for armed robbery.

Billy Dean Bramlett, 35, Rankin County, life for armed robbery.

Albert Estes, 43, Winston County, life for armed robbery and kidnap.

Travis Abney, 31, Chickasaw County, five years for grand larceny.

Harpole said the first the prison officials knew of the break came when the guard telephoned from Glen Allan, 70 miles southwest of here, he had been kidnaped by four fleeing convicts.

Harpole said the four men, who "had been doing pretty good here," worked in the field during the afternoon. They overpowered their guard, threatening him with knives, bundled him into his own automobile and sped away.

Near Glen Allan they tied him and left.

Harpole said prison officials alerted the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Louisiana State Police and county and municipal officers. Road blocks were quickly set up on the Mississippi River Bridge at Greenville.

"We'll just have to wait now," Harpole said. "We don't know which way they went after they left Glen Allan. They may even have stolen another car."

Arkansas officials also were asked to be on the lookout for the escapees.

Prison officials later said they believed the men may have split up after leaving Glen Allan, but gave no reason for the theory.

The prison received word of the break about three hours after it took place.

6 Children Victims, One 'About 3'

BENSON, Ill., May 25 (AP) — Eleven persons were killed tonight when two automobiles crashed and one exploded on a state highway near this central Illinois community.

Six of the victims were reported to be children.

State police said the collision ipst outside Benson. First reports indicated the cars were traveling in the same direction, but cause of the crash was not determined.

A resident of the area, Joe Vallow, Minonk, Ill., described the scene as a "mass of flaming wreckage and bodies."

State police said bodies were strewn over a wide area on the paved, two-lane road. One of the bodies was that of a girl about 3, they said.

License numbers on both cars had been burned beyond recognition.

One car, the one that exploded, was wrapped around a tree alongside the road, state police said. The other car was demolished.

A Peoria Journal-Star newsman on the scene said he "definitely counted six children dead among the wreckage of the two cars."

Vallow, a former photographer for the U.S. Army Signal Corps, said: "In the service, I photographed a lot of death and some terrible accidents, but I've never seen one like this. I even broke up on this one."

Vallow said he saw the body of a girl "about 3" in the wreckage of the car that was not burned.

He shot pictures of the wreckage.

State police and ambulances were called to the scene, on a level stretch of highway one mile outside Benson, shortly after 8 p.m.

Vallow said there apparently

Sailor Killed In Newellton Area Accident

ST. JOSEPH (Special)—A 19-year-old Newellton sailor, Donald Arnold, was killed instantly early yesterday morning, when his automobile apparently went out of control and struck a culvert. The accident occurred on Louisiana highway 3, between Newellton and St. Joseph, approximately 100 yards south of Choctaw Bayou.

Arnold, who is stationed in Bermuda, but was home on a 20-day leave, was enroute home from graduation exercises at Newellton High School. He was traveling alone and apparently lost control of the automobile, which ran off the road into a ditch finally colliding with a concrete culvert.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. today at the Bethany Baptist Church near Newellton with the Rev. J. B. Greer officiating, assisted by Rev. Fulton McGraw and Rev. C. T. Polk. Interment under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro will be in the Newellton Memorial cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis W. Arnold, two brothers, Hermie Clyde and Norman; one sister, Linda Gail Arnold; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Docie Arnold; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Emfinger, all of Newellton; and several aunts and uncles.

NEW CLOUDBURSTS

3,000 Evacuate Ft. Worth Homes

DALLAS, May 25 (UP)—New cloudbursts of nearly six inches today forced 3,000 persons from their homes in Fort Worth and police went from door to door in low-lying sections of Dallas, warning of high water.

A crest of 37 feet was expected Sunday on the Trinity River in Dallas, where exactly a month to the day ago flooding caused 2,500 persons to flee from their homes.

The Trinity crested at 39.7 feet on April 26. It has been running at or near flood stage of 28 feet for more than a month of intermittent cloudbursts.

Forced Out Of Homes

At Fort Worth, water poured out of the banks of the West Fork of the Trinity, forcing 2,400 persons from their homes. It was at rooftop level in one residential area.

The Fort Worth Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, said it had counted 600 other persons driven from their homes by high water on the shoreline of Eagle Mountain Lake, north of the city and in fashionable Richland, Hills, northwest of the city.

The Fort Worth flood was caused by uncontrolled floodwaters spilling out of Lake Worth and the flooding tributaries of the Trinity.

There were no reports of flood deaths or injuries in Forth Worth or Dallas, but at Weatherford where a cloudburst dumped 5.60 inches of rain, a child was reported missing and feared drowned, Police Dispatcher Dick Yandell said.

Yandell said two houses were

Jes' Ramblin'

Dr. H. L. Johns, several years ago was promoted from the pastorate of the biggest Methodist church hereabouts to assume duties of financing and the creation of groundwork necessary for establishment of the first Methodist four year college in far off Alaska.

His job dealt with the raising of several millions to make it possible to start the college wheels in motion. By dint of great efforts he has been successful. The college is not yet established, but it is far on its way and to Dr. John's unlimited credit must be accorded for his pioneering.

He will tell about the outcome of his efforts in the sermon he will preach at the morning hour when he comes as guest preacher into the old familiar scene again today.

We predict there won't be many vacant seats in the First Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Tireless Surgeon Revives Woman Dead 2 Hours

LOS ANGELES, May 25 (AP)—For approximately 2½ hours a surgeon massaged a woman's exposed, nonfunctioning heart with his hands to keep partial circulation flowing to her body and brain.

Yesterday Mrs. Dorothy Hull, 37 sat up cheerfully in her hospital bed and said:

"I never knew I had died until they told me yesterday."

The surgeon — County Medical Assn., rules forbid identifying him —told reporters yesterday he performed an operation 12 days ago to close two holes in the wall separating the upper heart chambers of Mrs. Hull, wife of a Ventura, Calif., welding-shop operator and the mother of a 9-year-old girl.

After he had sutured both holes, her heart beat wildly, without rhythm, a condition called fibrillation. The pumping function stopped.

Fatal if not corrected, the fibrillation could not be stopped in her case with electrical shocks, which sometimes brings the heart back to a normal beat. Shock was administered some 50 times. Every known drug also was given in vain.

Meanwhile, the surgeon had taken the heart in his hands and begun the massage. The brain, he said, starts to "die" three minutes after the oxygen supply is cut off.

CALLS MID-JUNE MEET

Beck Won't Stand For Re-Election

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Teamsters Union President Dave Beck announced tonight through his secretary, Ann Watkins, that he will not stand for re-election to a new term as head of the Teamsters Union.

Miss Watkins said Beck had also authorized her to say that he is calling a meeting of the union's international executive board for about mid-June. She said she was not sure of the exact date.

Beck until now had insisted that he would run for re-election at the union's convention, due to convene in late September in Miami.

His reversal of intent evidently recognized the growing move within the Teamsters Union to oust him from the union's helm.

Beck, 62, has been the main target of Senate rackets investigators who accuse him of taking more than $320,000 of Teamsters funds for his personal use, although Beck has repaid the union some $370,000.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 200 times, however, in refusing to tell Senate investigators under oath about his complicated financial dealings with his union's money.

Beck's decision not to run for a new five-year term came as his fellow Teamster leaders, led by

President Asked To Seek Release Of Doomed Boy

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Rep. Brownson (R-Ind) appealed to President Eisenhower today to use his "tremendous and world-wide influence" to save from execution a Hungarian resistance fighter Brownson said is "hardly out of knee pants."

The boy, 13-year-old Csebe Tormendy, son of a Hungarian refugee couple now living in Indianapolis, reportedly has been sentenced to die within the next two or three weeks.

Brownson's aid was enlisted by Mr. and Mrs. Don Utterback of Indianapolis, who sponsored the boy's mother and stepfather when they came to the United States April 5 after fleeing Hungary.

Brownson said in a telegram to Eisenhower:

"A 13-year-old boy, Csebe Tormendy, son of a Hungarian refugee in my Indianapolis district, is under sentence to death in Budapest for resistance to the Communist regime there. I beseech you as a great leader and humanitarian to exert your tremendous and worldwide influence to rescue this patriot, who is hardly out of knee pants."

Brownson conferred with State Department officials about the case yesterday, but said he felt little can be done officially through existing diplomatic channels to save the boy.

Chinese Troops Enforce Martial Law On Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 25 (AP)—Martial law backed by 33,000 Chinese Nationalist soldiers enforced complete calm in Taipei today, putting a swift end to anti-American rioting that wrecked the U. S. Embassy and other centers.

As the tension eased, U. S. authorities relaxed their warnings for Americans to stay out of sight. Americans were advised they could move out of doors again without undue risk, but were told to hold their excursions to a minimum for the time being.

President Chiang Kai-shek's government held a special two-hour meeting to discuss Friday's fierce outburst in which the U. S. Embassy, Consulate and Information Office were wrecked, more than a dozen cars smashed and 13 Americans beaten or manhandled.

Resentment at the acquittal by a U. S. court-martial of an American soldier, M. Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds of Colora, Md., on a charge of voluntary manslaughter triggered the rampage. The sergeant shot and killed a Chinese laborer he charged with peeping at his wife in her shower March 20. The sergeant said the Chinese attemped to attack him.

The six men and two girls inside the embassy who bore the brunt of the violent demonstration told how seven waves of rioters surged through the two-story brick building smashing furniture and typewriters and hurling documents and wreckages out the windows.

State President, Business Women, Renamed To Post

Miss Laudine Smith of Alexandria was reelected as president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the 38th annual convention here yesterday.

The newly elected officers were installed at a banquet last night at the Francis Hotel.

In addition to the election, several committee reports were read during the general business session yesterday afternoon.

The convention will end with a breakfast at the Virginia Hotel at 9 o'clock this morning.

The following cities in addition to Monroe, were represented at the sessions: Bastrop, Alexandria, Bogalusa, Covington, Crowley, Denham Springs, DeRidder, Metarie, Franklin, Hammond, Lafayette, Lake Charles, Leesville, Minden, New Orleans, Oakdale, Plaquemine, Port Allen, Ruston, Shreveport, Springhill, Houma and Gretna.

SCIENTISTS SAYS

'Planetary Wave Train' Cause Of Crazy Weather

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — A giant roller-coaster-like air dip in the skies is responsible for the screwball weather that has affected a large part of the nation this spring, a top Weather Bureau scientist said today.

That is, says Jerome Namias, an abnormally deep trough in the "planetary wave train" of air that meanders horizontally high above the earth is the culprit. It is blamed for having brought devastating floods to Texas and Oklahoma; contributed to a record-breaking number of tornadoes reported from 24 states so far; and given virtually the entire United States west of the Mississippi a wetter-than-average spring.

But Namias also pointed out that the roller-coaster-like trough, by inducing heavy rains, has brought at least temporary relief to many areas of the central and southern plains that have been bedeviled by drouth for the past four years.

Namias is chief of the Weather Bureau's extended or long-range forecast section.

He added cautiously in an interview: "We think the pattern of drouth will not return strongly, at least in this agricultural growing season. But we really can't say anything about subsequent years. It can be said, though, that not infrequently, the break of a long-period drouth is signalled by a year of very heavy rains such as have been experienced so far this year in a number of the drouth-stricken areas."

He explained the meteorology involved in this spring's weather picture as follows: Above the planet at all times is a high-riding, undulating air current that begins at 10,000 feet altitude and extends upwards at least 30,000 feet more. It is called the planetary wave train, because it is made up of a number of crests and troughs, like supermonstrous ocean waves. Its pattern varies from time-to-time. It is believed to be thousands of miles in width, and it has as its central core the famed "jet-stream,"—a fast-stepping westerly wind that sometimes attains speeds of up to 300 miles an hour.

100,000 Acres Inundated In Missouri, Ark.

KENNETT, Mo., May 25 (AP) — Floods spilled slowly over 100,000 acres today in two Missouri "bootheel" counties and two northeast Arkansas counties. Economic loss was in the millions.

As the southeast Missouri watershed bulged from recent heavy rains, levees in the Little River drainage system ruptured despite the long-hour work of district drainage engineers and volunteers.

The 100,000 acres under water, included 40,000 acres of cotton, the area's economic lifeblood.

Odd-Ball Drug Store To Close Soon In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 26—UP—A unique drug store that never sold a magazine or ice cream cone but did a flourishing business in black leeches and slippery elm bark, will be closed soon.

It will mark the end of a pharmaceutical tradition in the South.

Max Samson's, a Camp Street landmark since 1873 and one of the most historic drug stores in the nation, is being sold by the former owner's daughter, Mrs. Herman Barnett, the wife of a New Orleans attorney.

Mrs. Barnett has dispensed prescriptions and drugs since the death of her father in 1920 from behind the huge old - fashioned mahogany counters which were imported from Germany.

Samson purchased the store more than eight decades ago after receiving a degree from the old New Orleans College of Pharmacy.

An "Au Revaire" At The Door

A gentleman of the old school, he wore a black alpaca coat and ceremoniously bowed each of his customers out the door with an "Au Revoire" after their purchases of Nourray's Wine, an iodinated tonic from France, and Hypophosphate of lime from England.

Bottles lined upon the shelves today reveal yesterday's alchemy: "Dr. John's Remedy," good for coughs, colds and throat irritations, "Swamp Root" for cleaning out the systems of youths each spring, juniper berries, sassafrass, and cut passion flower herb "to perk up the appetite."

One black leech is still for sale.

Famous personages were among the clientele of Max Samson's "Real Drug Store."

John L. Sullivan, A Customer

When John L. Sullivan was knocked senseless in the 21st round by Gentleman Jim Corbett in 1892, the former champ hastily sent a boy to Max Samson's for a bottle of black leeches for his battered body.

A recent customer ordered one of the ugly leeches for a black eye.

Antique pill rollers, grinders, and mortars and pestles are still in the prescription department along with thousands of volumes of carefully bound prescriptions.

Except for fluorescent lighting, and a few other modern touches, Max Samson's remains the same as it did 84 years ago.

Mrs. Barnett said she is donating all of the store's fixtures, old prescriptions, exotic herbs, and medicines to the Historical Pharmacy Museum. The internationally known museum was started several years ago by Drs. Edward J. Ireland and John F. McCloskey of Loyola University's pharmacy school.

Although modern pharmaceutical scientists now shake their heads at the yellow boxes and bottles of Iceland Moss, slippery elm bark, and Chinese rhubarb roots as health-giving drugs, the passing of Max Samson's type of "Real Drug Store" from the scene marks the end of an era in American history.

Morse Blasts Ike Regime As 'Anti - Federalist'

NEW YORK, May 25 (UP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) today called the Eienhower administration "the most anti-federalist . . . in the history of our nation."

After accepting an award from the Worker's Defense League, Morse repeated his charges of "give-aways" by the administration, particularly in the field of public power, and added:

"People have been too busy making a living to notice the challenge of anti-federalism facing the American public. The Tories of our time want to take away the power given the federal government by the Constitution.

"The so-called states righter appiles the argument of the state's right issues to any federal legislation, even when it has no standing," Morse said.

He said the Eisenhower administration "wants to repeal the interstate commerce clause as it respects industrial relations and the jurisdiction of God's gift of natural resources by turning them over to private development."

A new plastic product, called PantSheeld, can be worn over the trousers to protect them from rain. It is designed like trousers, even to cuffs and crease. Rust-proof clips at the bottom slide under the trouser cuff to hold the shield in place. (Pantsheeld, New York 36, N. Y.)

REAR ADMIRAL HUGH H. GOODWIN

COMMENCEMENT

Adm. Goodwin To Speak At Neville

Rear Admiral Hugh H. Goodwin, commander of Naval Forces, Continenal Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., will be the commencement speaker at graduation exercises to be held in the Neville auditorium Thursday night at 8 p.m.

For Admiral Goodwin, it will be a homecoming. He attended the old Monroe City High School, forerunner to Neville High School, before the United States entered the first World War. He left in 1917 to join the navy and serve a seaman on the old Delaware. He took the competitive examination for the Annapolis and entered the Naval Academy in June, 1918, graduating in June, 1922.

After his graduation from the Naval Academy he served his first duty in submarines and qualified for command after two full sea going years in the old S boats.

Following diversified duty in battleships and lestroyers he completed flight training, and began his long venturesome career in Naval aviation.

His first duty as a Naval aviator was spent with Fighting Squadron One. Carrier aviation was struggling with the operational problem of development and carrier pilots were pioneering the tactics that were to make the carrier the offensive power of the fleet.

In 1936 he assumed duty as Commanding Officer of the training squadron at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, and until World War II he served in various aviation billets including aide and flag secretary to Commander, Air Scouting Force and Inter Command Air, Atlantic, and as advisor to the Argentine Navy.

During the war years he commissioned the carrier Gambier Bay, and fought that ship through the Marianas Campaign.

In August 1944 he joined the famed Carrier Division Six as Chief of Staff.

In the last days of the war he commanded the Carrier, San Jacirto, which won the Presidential Unit Citation for "extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy Japanese forces in the air, ashore, and aloat in the Pacific War Area from May 19, 1944 to August 14, 1945."

Following the war years Admiral Goodwin was ordered to duty in Washington and then a series of staff assignments including Chief of Staff to Commander in Chief Atlantic Fleet; Vice Commander Military Air Transport Service, and then into a challenging and rewarding sea command as commander of Carrier Division Two.

During this period Carrier Division Two operated as a part of the combined NATO Fleet in exercises in the Atlantic and later a part of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Prior to his assignment in Naval Forces Continental Air Defense Command he served two years as Commander Philippine Comand U. S. and Commander Naval Forces Philippines.

In April 1956 Admiral Goodwin assumed his present duty, Commander Naval Forces, Continental Air Defense Command. On May 7, 1957 he completed 40 years service in the United States Navy.

Navy Seabees relocated 150,000 adele penguins to build an Antarctic base during Operation Deepfreeze.

Plans Unchanged For Cutbacks In Formosa Force

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Pentagon, apparently feeling that anti-American demonstrations in Formosa will have no impact on defense there, is going ahead with plans for a slight cutback in its 3,500 military personnel on the island.

A reduction of about 600 men will be made, apparently almost all army personnel of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group. This group now numbers 2,116 Army, Navy and Air Force officers and men. Its primary purpose is to assist and advise Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's defending forces.

In addition to the permanent MAAG unit in Formosa, there is a more or less steady although transient unit of about 1,400 U.S. Air Force personnel.

REDS PROBE LONG LIFE

LONDON, May 24 (UP)—Soviet scientists will conduct tests in remote Azerbaijan in an effort to learn what makes residents of the area live so long, Radio Moscow said today. The broadcast said one man is 155 years old, a woman 149 and another man 147, while there are 420 persons in the area past 90.

Rollo C. Jarreau 'Newsman's Newspaperman'

"Once a newspaperman, always a newspaperman"; "A newsman's newspaperman"; "Dean of Louisiana newspapermen"; "A devoted Christian leader"; "A man dedicated to honest, conscientious service in civic and business affairs"; "A man of unflinching integrity"—these terms have been used to describe Rollo C. Jarreau, editor and pubisher of the Alexandria (La.) Town Talk, who died Monday at the age of 88.

Jarreau spent 74 of his 88 years in newspaper work and, on his last day at the office, was as dedicated to his work as he was when he delivered the first copy ever printed.

A number of leading newspapers have carried editorials lauding the life and work of this most extraordinary man and Christian, but the one carried in the paper he loved so well and prepared by those newsmen who knew him best, gives an accurate picture of his wonderful life. Because it tells the story best, we reproduce it here:

"Rollo C. Jarreau, editor and publisher of The Town Talk, who died Monday, devoted 74 years to a profession to which he was as dedicated on the last day at the office as he was when he delivered the first copy ever printed.

"Serving in every capacity from newsboy to publisher, he was what the profession calls a 'newsman's newspaperman.' He could never be diverted from his firm principles of fairness, integrity and morality — having decided early in life that these certainly should be upheld in any family newspaper.

"But it was natural that such ideals should motivate him in his journalistic profession, for they were part of Mr. Jarreau's every-day life.

"Seldom speaking above a whisper and always presenting a model of impeccability in his personal appearance, he lived a true Christian life made happier by his ability to serve his church to the fullest—a service recognized, after, a record of 69 consecutive years as a lay reader, with the bestowing of the title of senior warden emeritus for life by St. James Episcopal Church.

"In business and civic affairs, too, Mr. Jarreau reflected the calmness and dedication of a man whose goal in life was firmly fixed, without internal conflict.

"Because of his character, which endeared him to all he met, he was able to perform exceptional service for his community. He is credited with averting the closing of schools during the early days of the big depression in the 1930's, and his persistent support of the rural population around Alexandria was a major factor in the development not only of agriculture in general but also in the establishment of Alexandria as a major livestock center

"Knowing, as all good journalists do, that a good newspaper makes a good community and vice versa, Mr. Jarreau never tired of looking for ways to improve his paper.

"And he saw his unflinching devotion to his profession pay off; he saw The Town Talk grow from a four-page 8-by-11-inch paper to a full-size daily serving 25,000 families.

"He saw, too, a struggling river town of 1,800 become a city of 45,000, but neither the swelling tide of population nor the phenomenal growth of his newspaper changed him or the ideals that had guided him.

"He continued until the end to be a model of honesty, sincerity and Christian living—a 'newsman's newspaperman' by any barometer.
and served for 88 years."

"The journalistic profession has lost a great leader; and so has the community where Rollo C. Jarreau lived

Gross Income Continues To Make Gains

Gross national product, a comparatively new yardstick to determine the state of the economy, continued to make gains in the first quarter of this year. The overall gain was 6 per cent, but two-thirds of this was attributed to higher prices, only one-third to increased production.

Commerce Department tabulations, just released, put the gross national product for the first quarter at an annual rate of $427.1 billion. Last year's figure was $412.4 billion; for 1955, $390.9 billion.

Gross national product is the total value of all goods and services produced and performed.

It is encouraging that the figure continues to gain, but a 2 per cent annual increase in production is hardly enough to balance the increase in population and contributes nothing to an improved standard of living.

The gain attributed to rising prices is completely negative and, in fact, contains the potential of future economic problems. Increased production that does not result in surpluses is to be applauded, but the nation can do without additional inflation.

Price increases that occur when production—and presumably demand—are so nearly stationary are not the result of the operation of traditional economic laws and therefore to be regarded apprehensively. When manufacturers cannot sell all the goods they would like to produce but are, nevertheless, forced to raise prices, the competitive enterprise system is not being permitted to operate freely.

Senate Democrats See Hole In GOP Dike Blocking Hell's Canyon Work

WASHINGTON, May 25 (CQ) — Senate Democrats believe they have found a hole in the Republican dike holding back Federal development of Hell's Canyon.

The hole is the fast tax writeoff the Office of Defense Mobilization recently authorized on the Idaho Power Co.' two dams in the Hell's Canyon reach of the Snake River. The Snake winds along the Idaho-Oregon border.

The writeoff enables the private utility to save $30.5 million in taxes over a five-year period. Democrats have sent up a shout of "fraud, interest free loan and theft from the taxpayers' pockets" that will keep getting louder until the upcoming vote on Hell's Canyon is taken in the Senate.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Ten.) has opened committee hearings on tax writeoffs generally. But public power leaders, with Kefauver's blessing, are using the hearings to enlarge the hole in the dike in hopes of washing away all that has been done so far on private development of Hell's Canyon and substituting public development.

The Hell's Canyon public vs. private development argument dates back to 1947 when surveys of the area were started. In 1955 the Federal Power Commission licensed Idaho Power Co. to build three dams in the Hell's Canyon reach of the Snake — Brownlee, Oxbow and lower Hell's Canyon. The company already has started construction of Brownlee. Public power leaders had fought for a single high Federal dam on grounds it would yield more kilowatts and cheaper electricity for the Pacific Northwest.

Conflicting Claims

Democrats fighting for public development claim the high dam would cost $308 million and produce 924,000 kilowatts of power while the three private dams would cost $175 million and produce only 505,000 kilowatts. Republicans claim the Federal dam would cost $400 million. They say the private dams would cost $133 million and turn out 675,000 kilowatts, while not requiring Federal funds.

Last year, the Senate refused by a 41-51 vote to authorize a Federal dam and in effect revoke the FPC's licensing of the Idaho Power Co. on April 1 this year the Supreme Court refused to review a lower court decision upholding the FPC's action. Eight Democratic Senators joined with 43 Republicans in 1956 to defeat the measure. Two Republicans—William Langer (N. D.) and Alexander Wiley (Wis.) — sided with 39 Democrats.

Since that vote, three pro-high-dam Democrats have replaced Republican Senators who opposed the high Federal dam. Also Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D., Texas), another high-dam proponent, has replaced Price Daniel (D., Texas) who was against it. But four Republicans have replaced Democrats who voted for the Federal dam. So even Federal dam proponents admit that the election switches, plus such other changes as the death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.) and the defeat of Republican governors in Washington and Oregon, all of whom opposed the Federal dam, are not enough to change the 1956 vote result by themselves.

The only real vote changer available to public power forces is the tax writeoff issue. Lobbyists for such pro-Federal dam groups as the AFL-CIO and National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. freely admit that they are trying to find another Adolphe Wenzell for Kefaver to expose in his hearings. Wenzell was accused of representing both the Government and the Dixon-Yates utility combine seeking a Government contract to supply power in the Tennessee Valley. His activities, disclosed by Kefauver, led to cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract.

5 Instead Of 50 Years

The tax writeoff issued Idaho Power Co. authorizes it to depreciate 65 per cent of the cost of its Brownlee Dam and 60 per cent of its Oxbow Dam over a five-year period instead of the usual 50 years for dams.

The issuance upset Virginia's Democratic Senators, Harry Flood Byrd and A. Willis Robertson, who voted against Federal development of Hell's Canyon in 1956. They contend fast writeoffs were meant for defense plants, not a private utility with a garanteed income.

Public power advocates are trying to fan the anger of Byrd and Robertson enough to change their vote on the issue. They also are working hard on the other Democrats who either voted, paired or announced against the bill in 1956 and are still in the Senate: J. Allen Frear Jr. (Del.), George A. Smathers (Fla.), Spessard L. Holland (Fla.), Richard B. Russell (Ga.), Russell B. Long (La.), James O. Eastland (Miss.) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (N.C.).

But Senate passage — a long shot at best — would still not guarantee Federal development of Hells Canyon. Ahead would be the House and President Eisenhower whose opposition to Federal development could result in a veto of the legislation.

466 Big Jet Planes To Be Carrying Mail Across Skies Of U. S. By 1961

WASHINGTON—Airports around the country, concerned that they may not be ready to usher in the commercial jet age now just around the corner, can start relaxing a little.

It wasn't too many months ago that some people were saying that runways at most airports were not long enough to handle the speedy jets and that the heavier aircraft would sink through the concrete runways.

Of course some airports will have to make improvements and install new equipment but not to the extent predicted a year or so ago.

Civil Aeronautics Administrator James T. Pyle recalls that public imagination caught fire when the new jet transports first were announced.

"Writers took off on air-cooled typewriters and shrank the world to a nubbin, stretched your runways all out of shape, wrecked municipal budgets galore," he points out. "It was the typical hysteria of the American with anything new in his hand.

"At least the people know that no great armada of jet transports is going to descend upon their airports at half past two next month."

But, Pyle concedes, the jets are going to "swarm" on the American scene eventually. At first they will appear by ones and two. By July, 1961, though, there will be 466 of the largest of the new jets criss - crossing our skies and carrying passengers and mail to many communities.

"Now the people know that the airports of today generally have runways long enough and paving strong enough to take care of expected jet transport planes on the air routes which they are destined to serve," according to Pyle.

Pyle emphasizes there will be problems but he feels there will be others more pressing than airports.

"Because I feel that we have a reasonably good national system of airports and have been enjoying the benefits of a program of federal aid for many years, I would place airports as the final problem of the jet age," Pyle explains.

"Jet transports are not going to obsolete all our airports in a single day, as some of the hysteria threatened, but they are going to require serious planning and some changes at many airports."

Principal areas of change will involve the size and design of terminal buildings, the runway and taxiway layout, ramp facilities and ramp management and airport surface detection radar.

Over a period of year, according to Pyle, many airports must enlarge their terminal buildings. Jets are soon wil be planes in service which will carry 100 to 150 passengers.

A big problem at the airport will be to find ways to speed up the movement of planes on the field right after landing and before take off. Pyle sees the day when these big, new planes can make turns off the runway at 60 or 70 miles an hour, instead of slowing down to 10 or 20 miles an hour.

One answer to this problem is airport surface detection equipment — short - range radar which will permit CAA control tower operators to "see" planes moving about on the field. Pyle says CAA hopes to order 74 of these radar sets for major terminals.

Traffic on an airport can get badly snarled when the controller cannot see the limits of the airport and when the pilot himself can get lost in darkness or thick weather. In fact, according to Pyle, an airport can be closed to all traffic if a single plane is moving about over its surface and the controller and pilot do not know where it is.

Airway aids and air traffic control, of course, are the major problems facing CAA in the jet age. Much remains to be done to make the air lanes safer and it will cost money. Congress has set aside $810 million for a stepped up five - year program but Pyle is not too hopeful his is enough. More and more attention, it is certain, will be focused on this aspect of commercial aviation.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Overall Study Of Money Prize In Unionism Seen As Need

Each generation discovers what has long existed as something startlingly new. Labor racketeering seems such a new discovery in the year 1957, although it has been usual in American labor for a century. Back in the days of the Knights of Labor, there was a racket called the Home Club which while posing as a labor organization actually worked for the bosses. These days it would be called a company union. The building trades back in the early days were particularly notorious because the business agents of the unions speeded up or slowed down work according to the deals that were made with them personally.

The kickback was an old form of union racketeering. The kickback was, in effect, a reduction in wages, part of it going to the foreman or a bookkeeper, but eventually making its way into the pockets of the boss. A kickback was impossible unless the officials of the labor union agreed to it and for such an agreement they got a rake-off. There are all sorts of ways of turning union activity into petty private enterprise.

Today the kickback would be chicken feed because wherever there is a closed shop or a union shop, the take is so big that union officials, except those way down the line, would not bother with such small amounts.

By singling out Dave Beck and his union as corrupt, some of the labor leaders are sure that they have taken the monkeys off their own backs, which is something we will still have to see. What is necessary is a complete, overall study of the money prize in American trade unionism. When a labor leader has absolute and personal control of a quarter of a billion dollars of public funds, for which he is in no manner bound to account, then he is a dangerous person because he can use that money honestly or corruptly at will. No citizens other than labor leaders are so empowered. No group could accumulate such funds without Treasury supervision and control.

The claim is constantly being made that certain labor leaders work with the "mob" and that others do not. The term, mob, is intended to give the impression that sinister forces, gangsters, racketeers, murderers have formed a conspiracy with labor leaders to control the production and distribution of goods. Again, it is nothing new in American labor relations and the unions which are now praised for their purity have a long history of such associations. In fact, the garment industry of New York which these days is praised as superior to Dave Beck's Teamsters at one stage found gangsters on both the union and industry side.

It is supposed to be high strategy in labor circles to speak well of certain labor leaders and to denounce others because of their relations to the "mob." Taking the history of all the unions, over all the years of their existence, it is impossible to discover such puritanism as we are now asked to recognize. It is the repetition of the big lie that makes such labor leaders little angels in 1957 who were quite devilish in the 1930s. Are we all supposed to lose our memories?

Until the money prize in trade unionism is abolished, so that being a labor leader ceases to be a profitable enterprise but becomes a job with a fixed salary and nothing more—until that happens, the money prize in labor union leadership becomes a lodestone for a political type of individual who unites with others of the same kind of person to make what he can out of it. Some men seek power; others money. Some work for both. But no labor leader can afford, under present circumstances, to live among his fellows strictly on his salary without an expense account and without access to strike funds, educational funds and welfare funds. A close analysis of the political expenditures of unions is more important nationally than Dave Beck's Fifth Amendment pleas.

The enormous money power of these labor leaders is having the same effect upon politics as the use of money by big business in the 1890s. In fact, it is getting so that in many places the only people with ready cash are labor leaders and those who work the angles. It gives a man power to have ready cash these days.

Pray For Wealth?

IT IS not wrong to pray to God . . . For worldly happiness . . . Or even any measure of . . . Material success . . . Unless in our ambition for . . . A throne beneath the sun . . . Our underlying motive is . . . A purely selfish one . . . If we are thinking only of . . . The joy that we would know . . . And not about the good on earth . . . Our fortune could bestow . . . Then surely we do not deserve . . . To have our dreams come true . . . And likely they will fade, as God . . . Knows all we plan to do . . . But if we mean our fortune to . . . Public Forum

The Editor, Monroe Morning World.

Who would ever have dreamed that Monroe would be subjected to an overpass in the very area of earliest Ft. Miro Settlement. There was a time when the old Court House square, with its shade, quite and inviting seats was a rendezvous for sleeping ramps, nurses, baby buggies and intolerable litter. The river bank between Grammont Street and Jefferson Street (I.C. Railroad tracks) was once a dump for papers, broken glass, cans etc. on either side of a bridge at foot of DeSiard Street.

It took the formation of our first Civic League, backed by a Monroe newspaper and a gifted social editor, Fanny Mae Trousdale, to awaken and arouse people to the unsightly appearance of what visitors to Monroe saw as they approached from South or West.

Merchants became aware of their back yards and the sheriff was put in charge of Court House grounds.

Now in this same area between a handsome Court House and beautiful Layton Park there rises the head of a destroyer who plans to put utility ahead of civic beauty. Millions of tax money may be spent to buy property to be torn down to make room for an "elevated.

Whoever has traveled knows that only a blighted area is below and near such a help to "faster Traffic" in towns and cities. Even though the City has dedicated a hundred foot avenue on Forsythe and it could join both highways, 80 and 165, at the same point North and East of Monroe there is no discussion of an idea to build a bridge at Forsythe to meet Highway 80 just across the river. Why? Because no citizen with any hope for a "Monroe Beautiful" wishes to see a potential beauty area destroyed. "The voters would howl."

If there must be an elevated road and its attendent blight of cheap houses and warehouses, let us hope it is routed for enough above or below the present City limits that it cannot be seen from the homes people have built and where they expect to find peace and comfort.

Monroe needs again a gallant newspaper and interested people in fighting what seems a political affront and unnecessary waste of money.

Mary Lee Wooten
Past President
Monroe Beautification Board

In reply to your editorial of May 22, 1957, concerning federal aid to education, we feel that we must defend our position in this matter. We agree with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, both educational and civic, that federal aid to education is not to be desired.

We, too, believe that school problems are state and local problems. When the needs of education are explained to local citizens, and a good school program is being pursued, then you may be assured that the needs can and will be met on the local level.

Over a long period of time the people of Ouachita Parish and the City of Monroe have proven their interest in public education by supporting the tax measures for education. In addition, merchants and other individuals have given unlimited cooperation to the school program.

It is quite unfair to imply too, that "teachers would offer to sell our nation's birthright of individual freedom for a tiny mess of pottage." We believe that the public schools are the bulwark of democracy and we have so determined by our teachings.

Now, as to your statement concerning salaries of teachers, may we ask two questions? Why should there be continuous pointing up of teacher salary raises and why is there an undercurrent of disapproval concerning them? Are there not many other state employes whose salary increases are well deserved too, but are not spotlighted?

The salary schedule is an equitable pay scale for teachers at this time and we agree that it might seem large to those who do not realize that teachers have not actually had a raise in salary in several years, though the cost of living hs increased.

We believe that many of our problems could be solved if a better understanding existed between business and education. Could an opportunity be given teachers to serve on the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce?

MRS. W. S. VINCENT,
Representing a Group of 18 Teachers.

Our Congressman Otto Passman and our Mayor Jack Howard are trying very hard to help the people of Monroe and West Monroe to stop the location of the super highway through the heart of the south side of both cities and have explained the effect this will have on our property and the future growth of our cities. At present they seem to stand alone in this and need and should have the support of every man, woman and child in both West Monroe and Monroe, both north and south sides.

We can't believe that the majority of the people want this highway to come through the city, but why don't you stand up and be counted? Are you going to let a few people run this thing over us?

You, like ourselves, no doubt, have been told that since this was a federal highway tha. you could do nothing about it. Nothing could be further from the truth, but this group would like for us to think so. We think we the people of Monroe should decide this with no interference, but help from the state and federal officials, instead of the rush act.

The new elevated highway we are told will be about five blocks south of DeSiard street running about half way between the two railroads with the M. P. on the south and the I. C. on the north, which if left this way would be a catastrophe to the south side of Monroe for all property between the two railroads and Monroe as a whole.

The south side of Monroe between the railroads is fast becoming valuable commercial property and if this elevated highway is put through it will kill this growth on both sides of it. When the V. S. & P. railroad (now I. C.) was located where it is now when Monroe had about 800 people they thought that location of this railroad was ideal. Take a good look today and think ahead a few years what effect this elevated highway will have on the future growth of Monroe. We will go on record as saying the elevated or ground level highway in the present location will have the same effect in a few years as the railroads have today. This must not happen.

We believe the proper place for a super highway is on the outskirts of Monroe and not through it.

Neither Mayor Howard nor Congressman Passman had anything to do with this writing.

Columnist Disturbed By Expansion At Lafayette

A recent visit to Lafayette, La., left a disturbing impression on my mind.

Lafayette is what happens to a Southland town when suddenly it gets a massive dose of "progress."

Lafayette, with a tremendous transfusion of oil and gas has awakened with a start and spurted ahead like not! I remember since the oil boom days of Oklahoma.

Other Dixie neighbors look on enviously.

Spectacular growth!

Everybody is excited about the explosive expansion of Lafayette.

In Cajun country, where it has been natural to take things easy, Lafayette is busy, bustling, bursting at the seams.

Everybody is enthusiastic. Sound the horn! Full speed ahead!.... everybody but me.

I'm an outsider. Maybe an outsider can afford to be romantic where the Land of Evangeline is concerned. I'd put a fence around it and keep it just the way it was when Longfellow immortalized it.

And that can't be.

Yet an outsider who has come to love this land and its people with a very genuine affection keeps remembering the lazy mealtimes when we lingered over rice dressing and crawfish bisque and jambalaya....

And projecting this vigorous industrial city into the future, I have a horrid thought that these same happy gourmets who enjoy hour-long dinners today — might tomorrow be grabbing a hot dog on the run between board meetings.

And at the risk of injecting myself into a local situation which should be none of my concern, I am compelled to urge caution, patience, restraint.

The symptoms of "citification" already are apparent.

When a town becomes a city, it begins to entertain social distinctions previously ignored. It begins to neglect some of the important things.....

Such as going fishing.

Don't misunderstand. I have no illusions about being able to hold back the industrial dawn that's bursting over our Southland.

Perhaps I wouldn't if I could.

But when the Cajun country becomes more concerned with barrels of production per day than it is with the insatiable joy of living which has so long characterized these happy French folks .. don't you see ...

It'll be exciting and prosperous and important nd famous ...

But just like anyplace else.

And that would be an irretrievable loss.

I went to Lafayette to help the Kiwanis Clubs raise funds for the youth activities, including a magnificent new rehabilitation center.

These benefits which accure to progress are undeniably advantageous.

Post Office Asks Public Aid In Combatting Frauds

Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn today urged residents of Monroe to report promptly to their post office any instances of medical frauds involving use of the mails, or offensive advertising material involving apparent medical quackery that enters their homes.

Hathorn said his suggestion was prompted by newest reports he has received from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Chief Inspector David H. Stephens that use of the mails for medical quackery is at an all - time high.

So far this year, postal inspectors have prepared cases for consideration by the Department's general counsel which, conservatively, represent an annual loss to the public of $50 million.

Under Federal statutes, postal inspectors are charged with investigating any fraudulent activity in which the U. S. Mails are used. The most prominent fraudulent activity conducted through the mails today is in the field of fake medical cures.

In addition to handling public complaints by the thousands, the local postmaster noted, inspectors take materials offered and submit them for extensive examination by medical and chemical experts. The Department has a working agreement under which it contributes to the salary and expenses of doctors and chemists employed by the Food and Drug Administration for this purpose.

They make tests and examinations to determine whether medical materials and devices offered through the mails are misrepresented.

Some of the medical frauds most common today, in order of popularity, are "dietless" reducing schemes, ' sure cures" for cancer, arthritis, skin trouble, baldness and "lost manhood." Bust development gimmicks are also on the best-seller lists.

In recent years, the style in cancer cures has been in devices that allegedly contain "atomic" material or that are "electronic."

Usually these will be sold for hundreds of dollars, and will consist of impressive claptrap devices, such as flashing light bulbs, ticks and buzzes. Other styles in "atomic" medicines call for vials of water, olive oil, etc., supposed to contain atomic "curatives."

These are often offered for arthritis, rheumatism and for many other afflictions.

"Unfortunately," Chief Inspector Stephens notes, ' the prosecution of the ghouls who trade on hopes of the desperately-ill often can not be successfully prosecuted because the patients who are the chief witnesses die before the case is called up in court."

Many bust development gadgets still bring in large amounts of money to promoters. These usually consist of useless suction cup devices, creams, lotions, tablets and exercisers.

One such device for milady was a set of ordinary 2-pound dumbbells painted a dainty blue and adorned with pink ribbons.

In a related fraud, an elastic band exerciser, somewhat similar to an inexpensive garter, has been selling for fancy prices through the mails, on the claim that it will "create elegant legs."

People in all walks of life still apparently believe there are great therapeutic values in wearing common metals (bought at uncommon prices). One device is an "electric" bracelet, an ordinary band of copper which supposedly sets up "alternating currents," in the body to "cure" arthritis, neuritis, etc.

Another best seller of the medical quacks is so-called medical aids for "loss of manhood." High priced pills or salves are usually made up of material obtainable in drug stores at small cost.

"Typical of the ingenuity of these promoters," Chief Inspector Stephens relates, ' a scheme operated today from outside the United States is making a lot of money advertising in mail circulars a section of dry tree root about the size of a pencil, for $15. An inch of this root soaked in a bottle of liquor for 7 days is said to provide a sure cure for impotency."

Big money makers for the quacks are so-called cures for baldness. These usually are a liquid, cream or tonic. Postal inspectors find not only are such preparations useless for growing hair, but they are often laden with bacteria and can cause infection. Inspectors have noted a strange coincidence. Almost all promoters of cures for baldness are, themselves, extremely bald.

Reducing schemes are perhaps the most lucrative of medical frauds today. Products are sold at high prices through representations making outlandish claims of weight reducing. Material that swells in the stomach, medicated chewing gum, or pills are offered with the implication that proper diet, the only known remedy, is unnecessary. The pills offered in a current promotion are guaranteed to curb the appetite. Massive doses of the pills given in tests have had no reaction whatsoever. Nonetheless, a gullible public buys them in quantity.

Several weight reducing promotions currently under investigation are grossing between $2 million and $3 million a year.

In addition to the actual loss involved in medical frauds, and the untimely deaths of persons with serious illness who pinned their hopes on useless quackery, Postmaster General Summerfield pointed out that the medical quacks are flooding homes and offices with offensive advertising relating to their products.

First class letters under seal are not subject to postal inspection and the Post Office Department is limited in what it can do to prevent such mail going into homes, until the mail quacks are discovered and put out of business, Mr. Summerfield pointed out.

"However," he added, "the citizen can help protect himself and others by reporting suspected mail frauds and turning the matter received in the mails over to the postmaster or postal inspector. Such reports are welcome and are promptly investigated."

Mississippi Trims Pedestrian Deaths

By DOUGLAS STARR

JACKSON, Miss., May 25 (AP)—Mississippi appears well on the way toward breaking its 12-year-old record for holding down the number of pedestrian traffic deaths.

The record low was the 78 deaths in 1945 during World War II when automobiles were barred from travel by rationing. The record was equaled in 1953. The 1956 total was close — 80.

Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarbrough said the toll for the first 145 days of 1957 was 24, four behind the same period last year. If the rate continues, 1957 will set a record.

Scarbrough was quick to point out that pedestrian deaths are not always unavoidable. Pedestrians don't have to walk themselves to death," he said. "Keeping the pedestrian alive is a joint responsibility between the motorist and the pedestrian. If both parties follow the usual safety rules, fatal accidents can be avoided."

The peak year for pedestrian deaths was 1941 when 134 died. During World War II, the toll dropped below 96 for four years, 1942-45.

It fell below 94 for another four-year period, 1953-56.

Scarbrough attributes the 1953-56 drop to "greater safety education and an increasing consciousness of real danger involving automobile and traffic carelessness."

In addition, he said, some of the physical aspects of traffic have changed. Highways have been broadened so pedestrians may walk out of the path of traffic and so motorists may pull off the pavement to make minor repairs.

The commissioner listed some statistics concerning pedestrian deaths during 1956:

Although the records list deaths around the clock, the most dangerous time is 4-5 p.m. when 10 fatalities were recorded. Thirty deaths were recorded from 4-8 p. m., the rush hour for homeward bound traffic.

The most dangerous day of the week was Saturday with 17 deaths reported. Sunday was second with 14.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My problem is that I am in a state of depression most of the time. somehow I can't find a reason for it. Do you know whether or not people suffer this way for religious reasons and don't even know what the real reason is?

P. D.

ANSWER: In most cases such as the one you have described, the depressed state of mind is due either to a consciousness of guilt or some physical reason. What psychologists call a guilt complex may be either a construction of the mind or a real awarenes. of guilt. The Bible plainly teaches that the Holy Spir it is the one who convinces us of sin. of unrighteousness and of judgment. It is always wisdom accept the better explanation of any phenomenon and the best explanation for the guilt complex is that men are guilty before God and are in need of justification and cleansing from the accusing conscience. The true answer is not to explain away the fact of sin, or to call it by some other name, but to repent and receive the Gospel which provides cleansing and will restore the sense of being at peace with God. We can be delivered from the states of depression resulting from the sense f guilt when the guilt is gone and when Christ has entered into our personality.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Message:

0. Eccles. 10:10. If the iron is blunt, and one does not whet the edge, he must put forth more strength; but wisdom helps one to succeed.
1. Lao Tzu; Blakney: Poem 68. An able fighter does not rage.
2. Eccles. 11:6. Withhold not your hand; for you do not know which will prosper, this or that, or whether both alike will be good.
3. Prov. 27:10. Better is a neighbor who is near than a brother who is far away.
4. Lao Tzu; Blakney: Poem 74. Those who substitute are like would-be master the skilled craftsman does and carpenters who try to chop as nearly always mangle their own hands.

Bible Words for Today

LUKE 2-3, 8-9—"And there was a man named Zacchaeus; he was a chief tax collector, and rich. And he sought to see who Jesus was . . . . And Zacchaeus said to the Lord, 'Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it fourfold.' And Jesus said to him, 'Today salvation has come to this house.' " (RSV)

Zacchaeus was what the world would call a successful man. He was chief collector of internal revenue in Jericho. And he was rich. What more could any man want?

You might think that such a man of affairs would be self-sufficient, hard-boiled, caring nothing for spiritual things. But Zacchaeus felt in his heart a spiritual need. Jesus found the way to this man's heart and filled his need.

Jesus had told His disciples "how hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God." Not impossible, mind you, but hard. This is the story of one rich man who did it. Zacchaeus came to Jesus and received him joyfully; he put himself and all that he had at the command of God.

New, Simpler Storm Warning System Set

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — A new and simpler system of coastal storm warning displays will be put into effect next Jan. 1.

Announcing this today, the Weather Bureau said four separate flag signals will be used during the day instead of the six now employed. At night, there will be a comparable system of lantern signals.

The warning signals have been used for years, when winds dangerous to navigation have been forecast, along the coasts of the United States, the Great Lakes, the Hawaiian Islands and Puerto Rico.

The four types of display signals which will be used after Jan. 1: Small craft warning—one red pennant displayed by day and a red light above a white light at night to indicate winds up to 38 miles an hour, or 33 knots, or sea conditions dangerous to small craft. The old system has no lantern signal; small craft warnings are displayed only in the daytime.

Gale warning—two red pennants displayed by day and a white light above a red light at night to indicate predicted winds ranging from 39 to 54 miles an hour, or 34 to 48 knots.

Cabinet Crisis Solution Hard Job, Says Pleven

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—Rene Pleven plunged into the French political whirlpool today and sent out word that a solution for the nation's Cabinet crisis will be a tough job and take a long time. This surprised no one.

The tall ex-premier, leader of a middle-road splinter group, set up temporary headquarters in an annex of the Foreign Ministry to begin a series of talks with leaders of other parties and with prominent officials.

Spokesmen for Pleven's own party, the Socialist and Democratic Union of the Resistance (UDSR), emphasized that Pleven does not intend to form a Cabinet himself. They stressed that he is simply acting as agent for President Rene Coty in sounding out political opinion on who and what can put a new Cabinet together.

This position could, however, be only a maneuver to set the stage for a "draft" of Pleven to succeed Premier Guy Mollet as chief of government. Mollet resigned Tuesday when Parliament rejected his tax proposals to pay for France's campaign against the rebels in Algeria.

One source said Pleven intends to recommend, in a report to Coty, next Wednesday, a "round table conference" of the chiefs of the "national" parties to hammer out a common basic program.

He explained that the camp will have "another" highly experienced junion and senior staff, but said he would announce their names at a later date.

Both staffs will meet at Ki-Ro-Li one week prior to the official opening for training. H. M. McCoggins, field executive, will again serve as camp director.

of the Juvenile division, was speaker recently at the North Monroe Kiwanis club, and the club weekly news letter gave a helpful and instructive resume of his talk. Here are some things he said:

"Twenty-five per cent of delinquency is caused by physical factors. A child who has some malfunction of the body which prevents his acceptance by the general group will do anything to gain acceptance, even to steal.

"Fifty per cent of the dlinquency is caused by home and parentalfactors. Some of these may be cited: broken homes, drunken parents, domineering parents who reject their children. In other words a child must have his emotional needs satisfied. He needs love and affection; he must be close to someone or something; he must have security; he must have a measure of authority and independence; and above all, he needs constant discipline."

Here, in lighter vein, is something told by a member of the staff of former Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire. It concerned a welfare worker who visited in the state named during a heavy downpour of rain and just at this time a preacher was declaring that the world was about to come to its end.

Then this welfare worker blurted out: "I don't care if it does come to an end because I've got relatives in Vermont where I can go to live!"

On a commuter train, Jim Brown found that he had taken a seat next to a highly loquacious individual. In course of talk this man asked the man at his side what he had paid for his house, his car and what his country club dues cost him. He got the shortest answer possible, but still he continued.

"I hear you sold that pedigreed retriever dog of yours. Now what did you sell it for anyway?" came the question. "Would you mind telling me?" "Not at all" came the reply, "I sold it because he had been chewing the table leg!"

under water at Weatherfront.

There were no reports of flood deaths or injuries at Forth Worth or Dallas but near Weatnerford, where a cloudburst dumped 5.68 inches of rain, five-year-old Daniel Glenn Butler was drowned.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Butler of Brock, Tex., was standing on the bank of a flood-swollen stream nine miles west of Weatherford. The bank caved in, sending the boy into the swirling waters. His body was recovered early tonight two miles downstream.

Police Dispatcher Dick Yandell said the sudden deluge at Weatherford put two houses under water.

Some families were reported evacuated at Dennis, south of Weatherford but police said no one was trapped by high water.

Isolated severe thunderstorms were reported at many points in Texas such as at San Saba, some 30 miles west of Lampasas which was flooded by a 10-foot wall of water earlier this month.

San Saba was drenched by 2.25 inches of rain in 30 minutes.

Helping Evacuation

At Fort Worth, the 600-man police force was expanded by 125 civil defense auxiliary police and Army and Marine reserves in helping out in the evacuation. Reception centers were set up in Will Rogers auditorium and evacuees stored their personal belongings in the adjoining livestock arena.

Officers in Dallas patrolled the Roosevelt addition, a many-times flooded area in the south part of the city, to tell residents of the danger from flood waters should the Trinity reach its expected crest.

The Press said the worst flooded area in Fort Worth was the Sundown addition near Carswell Air Force Base on the west side of the city. Water was rooftop deep in the area that houses hundreds of military personnel from the adjoining air base.

were no witnesses to the collinsion. A motorist, Roger Tucker Jr., also of Minonk, came upon the crash and reported it to police.

Vallow said the stretch of roadway where the two cars crashed is "straight as a string."

"There are no hills or curves and no bridges," he said. "It happened in front of a farmhouse alongside the road, "but the family that lives there was not at home at the time."

He said he didn't know how long the victims lay by the roadside after the crash. "The road is well traveled between Peoria and eastern Illinois," Vallow said, "and I think Tucker came on the wreck soon after t happened."

One man was alive when ambulances reached the scene, state police said, but he is believed to have died en route to a hospital.

Mysterious Flight Could Have Been Secret Photo

By RENE CAPPON

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The swoosh of a low-flying jet plane threw Manhattan into a dither one night recently, creating a mystery not solved until the Servo Corp. of America manfully stepped up with a confession.

Servo said the culprit was a Navy craft flown by a civilian pilot on a secret test mission for the company. Some of the hush-hush evaporated because the sortie caused scores of phone calls to police, military authorities, and newspapers. An interceptor was even sent up for a look.

The company announcement studiously avoided details. But there was speculation the plane had tested a greatly improved photo reconnaissance technique using infra-red rays—heat radiation rather than light.

Since all terrestrial bodies give off heat, little escapes the infra-red camera and total darkness is no handicap.

Behind the unexpectedly spectacular flight, as behind much of the infra-red development which may be on the brink of great expansion today, is the stocky shape of Henry Blackstone, an electronics engineer from American Falls, Idaho.

Blackstone, then only 30, founded Servo in 1946 on a capitalization of $10,000. The company first set up shop in a vacant Long Island dance hall, now has some 230 employes and manufactures automation, radio communication and navigational systems as well as infra-red devices.

Military applications of infra red, or IR, have received attention in such fields as fire control, aerial photography, and guided missiles. Blackstone has had a pioneering hand in them all.

Some were in use towards the end of World War II, notably "snooperscope" sights for night "vision" of machine guns and rifles, and a Blackstone - developed antiaircraft missile fired from the ground and guided to its target by the heat of the plane's engines.

As a detector, IR has one big advantage over radar. It is immune to enemy jamming. In fact, some authorities believe IR may largely supplant radar for target detection, mapping, and missile guidance within the next decade.

Blackstone, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, got interested in IR through experience with antiaircraft weapons in his college ROTC days.

The guns were then aimed by mechanical computers, and Blackstone realized that even considerable improvement along that line would hardly make for maximum accuracy.

After graduation, he teamed up with classmate Curtis Hillyer, now head of the Hillyer Instrument Co., to form the company of Hillyer and Blackstone.

Sherman Fairchild, president of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Co., hired the two 25-year-olds for work on an IR guided missile. By 1940 they had a model. By 1944 they had produced Felix — forerunner of the great missile development of future years — and this weapon saw action in the Far Eastern theater.

With peacetime, Fairchild dropped its missile program. Blackstone, by now thoroughly enamored of IR, struck out on his own with Servo. The Navy awarded him a contract to produce a powered IR missile. He did; but though he had the distinction of making the first powered weapon of this type, other and bigger manufacturers now moved into the IR missile field, and Servo was crowded out.

Accordingly, Blackstone began looking for other IR adaptations, sold the Air Force on infra - red aerial reconnaissance and devised the first version of the equipment by 1948. (There has been photography on infra - red sensitized film, by the way, but Blackstone's IR cameras use ordinary films.) It has since undergone enormous refinement.

Fire protection systems and highly efficient burglar alarms are just two of the possibilities he invisages for future IR gadgets.

"We stand today on the threshhold of the age of infra red," he says.

Peron Escapes Car Bomb Plot

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 25 (AP)—A bomb exploded in the car of Juan D. Peron today five minutes before the exiled ex-dictator of Argentina was to enter it.

His chauffeur, Isaac Gilaberte, was injured slightly and the car was destroyed by fire.

Peron's aide, Maj. Pablo Vicente, charged the assassination attempt was planned by the Argentine Embassy.

Embassy Counselor Julio Negre called the charge ridiculous and said, "This is just another attempt by Peron to get publicity."

fund so that the legislators can keep abreast of outlays under it.

The administration has proposed that Congress make 500 million dollars available to be loaned to underdeveloped countries, with authority to borrow an additional 750 millions from the Treasury in each of the next two years.

Knowland said he favors a provision similar to that inserted in the Middle East resolution under which appropriate committees of Congress would be notified 15 days in advance of any decision to make loans to individual nations under the fund.

Johnson indicated he was favorable to such a provision. But he put his foot down against any move to vote foreign aid appropriations that could be spent any time in future years, as John Hollister, international cooperation administrator, has proposed.

Johnson said he saw no "legitimate purpose" to be served by any such "blank check," adding:

"The basic strength of Congress lies in retaining control over the spending of the people's money. That control would be meaningless if we voluntarily surrendered our right to make an annual review and an annual determination.

"Tht President has gone a long way to meet congressional views on the program. I am confident that Congress will go a long way to meet him.

"But that does not include surrender of the right and the duty to make annual appropriations. The program is before a committee of men who are reasonable and men who are experienced. I am confident that ways and means will be found to meet all legitimate needs without sacrificing basic principles."

of 80 to 90 compressions a minute, he estimated, he kept about one-third the normal amount of blood going to the brain, and there was no apparent damage.

After an hour 15 minutes the surgeon reopened the larger, dollar-sized hole in hope that this would restore the beat. The heart began looking more pink but still did not beat. He continued massaging.

Finally the left side of the heart began beating normally. Then tht entire heart began another rhythm, ventricular tachycardia, a precursor of normal beat. The surgical team watched another hour as the heart slowly resumed a normal beat. Then the incision was closed.

The lack of brain damage was attributed by the surgeon to the constant massaging and the fact that Mrs. Hull had been refrigerated to a temperature of 81.5 degrees to slow her circulation.

Steady Nerves, Know-How Pay Off During Bomb Scare

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25 (AP)—The live hand grenade, with pin jarred half out, lay on the busy street corner, a deadly and unpredictable menace to the San Francisco neighborhood.

Half - scared passersby, hastily cleared back by police when the grenade was found, hesitated at a safe distance to watch. A few, taking refuge in an all-too-close bar, foolishly stared through a plate glass window.

When Maj. Forrest R. Spiva, Army demolitions expert, arrived on the tense scene, he carefully picked up the khaki painted grenade, compressed the striker firmly in his hand and tried to push the pin back in place.

PIN SLIPS OUT

That would have made the grenade safe but, instead, the loose pin slipped entirely out and the lean Oklahoman found himself in as ticklish a situation as he can recall in nearly 15 years of demolition work.

This was a civil emergency, typical of the epidemic of "bomb scares" plaguing authorities across the nation today. For the most part, the frightening telephone warnings, the threat notes and all the rest check out as fakes. But police never know — and they can't take a chance.

When the chips are down, they have turned to the Army's demolition specialists and, as in the instance of Maj. Spiva's live grenade, steady nerves and know-how averted possible disaster.

Spiva didn't hesitate. Tightly holding the striker in place, he climbed in an Army car and told the driver to head back to the Presidio, away from people and buildings.

The MP officer asked him enroute if his hand was tiring and whether he wanted to use the siren to make faster time. Spiva said his hand was getting tired but not to use the siren. He didn't want to risk a collision going through red lights or stop streets in the heavy traffic.

They finally reached the Crissy Field beach at the Presidio and Spiva heaved the grenade far out in the ocean, where it went off harmlessly.

"We never did find out where that thing came from," the ordnance officer said. "But it was a military weapon and our responsibility. Beside that, the police did not have anyone trained to disarm or dispose of dangerous explosive devices like that."

It's different now, for the worrysome increase in bomb scares throughout the country, disrupting school classes, delaying planes, causing near panics in cities, is resulting in police and other civil agencies developing their own demolition men.

There's always the chance that a bomb scare will turn out to be the real thing — like the deadly homemade devices planted by New York's "mad bomber," or the explossives stowed aboard a commercial plane by the Denver forger who heavily insured his mother and then killed her and 43 other persons in flight to Portland, Ore.

At 6th Army Headquarters, where Maj. Spiva commands 10 bomb disposal units in eight western states, he has just trained a class of 50 San Francisco police officers.

ARMED WITH KNOWLEDGE

Civilian authorities feel they would be better equipped to handle bomb scares, fake or otherwise, if they had their own technicians. The course taught by Maj. Spiva and his demolition specialists, and in other Army areas across the country, includes:

Identification of military and commercial type explosives, firing devices, safety precautions and recommended disposal techniques.

"Until recently, every time three was an incident involving a homemade bomb or sabotage device, or commercial explosives, we would answer the call," Spiva said.

The Army now has changed policy somewhat by deciding disposal of commercial explosives was a civilian responsibility. This, in addition to the current outbreak of bomb scares, is why police and other civil agencies are training their own men all over the country.

Inflation Signals Are Hoisted At Key Points

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Running a business, feeding a family or just existing—all these things cost more money than ever before.

The technical name for this state of affairs is "inflation." For some time now, with industrial production easing off and business activity slackening here and there, you've been hearing less talk about inflation. But this week, inflationary signals were flying again at several key points on the economic scene.

Steel industry leaders, attending the annual meetig of the American Iron and Steel Institute, reminded the nation that steel prices are due for another big boost soon. Some said the July increases are likely to be larger than the hikes of $5 to $7 a ton which had been widely predicted earlier this year.

Inflationary trends were apparent, too, in the latest U.S. Department of Labor report on living costs. The department's consumer price index for April was the highest yet: 119.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average. Food costs paced the upward move, but people also paid more for furniture, housing, medical care, amusements, hair cuts and transportation.

Labor Department officials said the cost-of-living index would certainly be higher in May — and probably go up even more in July and August. Meanwhile the April increase will bring automatic pay boosts June 1 for 1,400,000 auto, aircraft and farm equipment workers.

On still another front, a committee of congressional experts took a good hard look at the nation's business and reported that inflationary pressures are increasing.

The committee forecast a stepped-up rate of general business activity in the months ahead. It said "gross national product"—the total dollar value of all goods and services produced and sold—should soar this year to a new high of 435 billion dollars. In the first three months of 1957, business as measured in terms of gross national product was rocking along at a yearly pace 427 billion dollars. Gross national product in 1956 totaled 412 billion dollars. In each instance, the gains were partly due to price increae.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP) — wheat futures traders who have been trying to get a bull market under way had to postpone it again as prices took a heavy beating on the Board of Trade this week.

Wheat fell around six cents in the last two trading days and reached new seasonal lows in the biggest one week decline in about two months. Rye also was off substantially for the week, but oats, corn and soybeans held their ground fairly well.

Old style wheat closed Friday 2¼ to 5¾ cents lower than a week ago Friday. New style wheat was 4⅛ to 6 cents lower, corn unchanged to 1⅜ higher, oats ⅜ higher to 2⅛ lower, rye 5½ lower to 4½ higher, soybeans ⅝ lower to 6¾ higher, and lard 17 to 40 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) —The cotton futures market moved into new ground this week on a surge of active buying.

On the New York Cotton Exchange, net gains ranging from $1.05 to $2.70 a bale were scored by the active months, all of which made new life-of-contract highs.

Buying was encouraged by a combination of factors. One of the most powerful was a growing belief among traders that the 1957 loan rate would be well above the officially announced guaranteed minimum of 31.65 cents a pound for middling one-inch staple at average locations. There were a few, however, who did not share this view.

Also contributing to bullish sentiment were reports of bad weather in the cotton belt, and increasing doubt that Congress would pass new price support legislation in time to affect the 1958 cotton crop.

Signs of improvement in the goods market spurred buying at the start of the week but activity in Worth Street subsquently turned quiet.

Selling of cotton futures was attributed largely to profit-taking. On Friday bullish sentiment was dampened by a new government report on cotton consumption. It showed that the daily rate of use by U. S. mills had slumped in April to 32,300 bales, as compared to 34,500 bales a day in March and 36,100 in April last year.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau noted that if the daily rate of consumption from now on through July follows the pattern of the past five years, full season use of the staple should total 8,700,000 bales. That would compare with 9,200,000 bales consumed during the 1955-56 season.

The Commodity Credit Corporation reported early it sold 470,000 bales of upland cotton for export against bids opened May 14. That compared with 722,000 bales sold by the CCC two weeks before and 1,109,000 bales sold four weeks earlier.

Student Wounded Critically After Drinking Spree

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio, May 25 (UP)—A drinking spree nearly cost a student his right leg today 24 hours after police broke up a student riot protesting a Bowling Green State University drinking ban.

Everett Miller, 20, Clyde, Ohio, was shot in the leg with a deer rifle. He was in serious condition at Wood County Memorial Hospital, where doctors sought to save his shattered leg.

The shooting occurred after Miller and two others left a tavern and followed Richard Crum, 25, to his trailer home. Police said the youths and Crum argued about a woman and then broke a window in the trailer.

Fired At Miller

Crum, a gasoline station attendant, retaliated by firing at Miller, Russell Knofel, 21, Cleveland, and Charles Huston, 19, Monroe, Mich. Miller was the only one who was wounded.

University President Ralph McDonald immediately organized a four-man faculty committee to investigate both the shooting and the student riot.

He expelled 12 students charged with being ringleaders of the riot, which began Thursday night as a 300-student torchlight parade and ended Friday morning in a riot involving 3,000 persons.

Three Youths Arrested

Three youths were arrested and two policemen were injured when their patrol car crashed into a tree while they rushed to the riot scene.

It took 40 policemen to break up the riot, which McDonald said stemmed from a "planned" demonstration against disciplinary action expected against the Sigma Chi and Delta Tau Delta fraternity houses here.

Both fraternities were charged with violating university drinking rules. The university forbids the consumption of alcoholic beverages at any organized gathering of university groups on or off the campus.

STOCKS DECLINE—The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined for the first time in 13 weeks closing yesterday at 184.5 from 184.9 a week earlier. The commodity index remained the same this week at 175.8. Gains and losses were evenly divided. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Market Recedes Slightly, First Time In 13 Weeks

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The stock market receded slightly this week, its first retreat in 13 weeks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 40 cents to $184.50. This left it still within the zone of the string of highs for the year established in the last two weeks but 60 cents below the latest high, established Monday.

The Monday session saw the ticker tape fall behind the pace of early buying orders. Prices nudged ahead to a '57 high but this was the crest of the prolonged advanced, at least for the time being.

The following three sessions were ones of mild reaction as values were clipped while profits were taken. Oils moved generally forward, however, and a wide assortment of specialties established' big giants.

Five of the most heavily traded issues of the week were oils.

Prices advanced generally Friday most of the day but precautionary pre-weekend selling near the close pared the rise to the slimmest margin.

Excellent earnings reports and optimistic forecasts for many years to come spurred the oils. Getty Oil, the week's most active stock, was helped by persistent merger rumors.

Among a miscellaneous list of gainers were Amerada up 8½, Monterey 2½, American Cyanamid 3⅜ and Northern Pacific 2⅛.

The five most active issues this week were Getty Oil up 7½ at 36, Standard Oil (New Jersey) up 2½ at 63⅞, Bethlehem Steel off ⅜ at 46⅞, General Motors off ⅞ at 42½, and Central Foundry, up ⅜ at 12.

In the bond market U.S. governments dipped in some of the lightest trading of the year.

Diamond Field Boasts 2 Oil Well Discoveries

JACKSON, Miss., May 25 (AP)—Mississippi oil men today reported completion of one wildcat oil well and one well in a known oil field and rapid development of the recently discovered Diamond Field.

The wildcat well and new field find was Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s Jefferson County Wildcat Dockery et al No. 1. The new oiler pumped 40 barrels of 37 gravity oil daily from perforations in the lower Tuscaloosa sand at 9,816-22 feet.

It was the fifth deep discovery in Mississippi this year.

The completed well in the known field was Lyle Cashion Co.'s Miller et al No. 1 at Kingston in Adams County. The well was reported pumping 60 barrels of oil daily from a Wilcox sand at 6,558-65 feet.

The development well in the Wayne County field is Daws, Clark and Stanley No. 1, Gray Estate No. 1. Operators were clearing the location for a 10,500 foot test.

The discovery well was Larco Drilling Co.'s Durbin Bond No. 1 Gray which came in last week at 9,931-36 feet and flows 171 barrels of 38 gravity oil daily.

Sun Oil Co. and Shell Oil Co. were reported contemplating early tests in the new area.

Other oil activity:

Carter Oil Co. was preparing to spud in at its Rankin County Wildcat Laughlin No. 1 near Piney Woods. Contract depth is 12,900 feet.

Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. was continuing to core below 15,500 feet in its Covington County Wildcat Miller Aultman No. 1. The venture logged shows of oil and gas in scattered small sand sections from 14,964 to 15,249 feet. Operators have logged no further shows since the deeper test.

Oil-State Congressmen See Certain Death For Gas Bill

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Belief is growing among oil-state congressmen that the new natural gas bill will meet certain death in the House Commerce Committee if administration—proposed amendments are adopted.

A lop-sided committee vote against the bill is seen by Reps. John Darman (D-Okla) and Walter Rogers (D-Tex) if it is rewritten to include the amendments. They also predict a close vote in the committee on the amendments.

Reps. Steed (D-Okla), Dies (d-Tex) and others see the situation pretty much the same way.

Rogers said that if the bill is approved by the committee and sent to the house, it will be essentially in the same form as introduced by Reps. Harris (D-Ark) and O'Hara (R-Minn).

The Harris-O'Hara bill would amend the natural gas act with a formula under which the Federal Power Commission's controls over natural gas producers would be eased to some extent.

Charles Kendall, general counsel for the Office of Defense Mobilization, proposed the administration amendments as the committee opened a hearing on the bill last week. They would allow the commission to take into account producer costs in determining the reasonable market price of gas and would authorize the commission to review price increases proposed under definite pricing clauses in existing contracts.

Jarman and Rogers saw a possibility of this situation in the committee:

That opponents of the bill would vote for the administration amendments, with that vote close. The opponents then would vote against the bill even if the amendments were included. And they would be joined in opposition by some proponents of the original Harris-O'Hara measure who believe the amendments would make the bill unsatisfactory. The opposition thus would be strong enough to kill the bill by a lop-sided vote.

Rogers expressed belief the committee would reject the administration amendments. H said he did not believe President Eisenhower would veto the bill if it is passed without the amendments.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF IMPORTANCE TO THE MONROE AREA

On Wednesday, May 22, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury passed a resolution declaring that all Saturdays would be holidays in this parish, effective June 1.

All banks in Ouachita Parish will remain open during regular business hours each Monday through Friday, and in addition will reopen each Friday at 3 p.m. and remain open for business until 6 p.m.

The new schedule will actually provide more banking hours for our customers, since all banks have agreed to forego many of the lesser holidays formerly observed. The number of holidays will be reduced from 16 to 5. Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30, will NOT be observed as a holiday.

Henceforth, only New Years, July 4, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas will be holidays in this parish.

The new Friday banking hours will be followed for the first time on Friday, May 31, and the first non-banking Saturday will be June 1.

Through these new hours, your banks hope to end the confusion and inconvenience caused by repeated closings for unfamiliar minor holidays.

Graceful San Paulo, Brazil: Fast Growing South American Chicago

By JULIUS GOLDEN

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The New World's new melting pot Sao Paulo—today is Brazil's cradle of industralization.

Paulistas, the proud and diverse people who inhabit this city, call it "the fastest growing city in the world; the Chicago of South America."

The city is dramatic evidence that a community, left far behind by the industrial revolution of the last century, can overcome the handicap in a rush toward the future.

Paulistas, refering to the state as well as the city, say "Sao Paulo is a locomotive pulling 20 empty cars (the other Brazilian states)."

Built over rolling hills and shallow valleys, Sao Paulo is a melting pot of three million. On its wide modern boulevards walk Germans, Japanese, Italians, Hungarians and even descendants of proud Confederates who left the United States after the Civil War.

And the immigrants keep coming. Some bring money, others technical know-how. Still others come with empty pockets and big dreams. But all add to Sao Paulo's dynamic personality.

In this nation of vast lands and untapped resources, Sao Paulo has a niche of its own. It has taken long strides ahead of the rest of Brazil.

From its soaring skyscrapers, its modern factories, come more than half of the country's textile products, chemicals and medicines. It produces 80 per cent of all Brazilian electrical materials, 78 per cent of manufactured rubber goods and 86 per cent of the machinery and finished metal.

Sao Paulo's industrial growth far outshadows its population increase, which in itself is amazing. This city has grown by one million in six years and last year became Brazil's most populous city.

Industrial growth in Sao Paulo, best shown by the increase in value of basic industries, borders on the fantastic. The value of metallurgical industries has grown from less than one million dollars in 1940 to eight million in 1950 to 18 million in 1955. The automotive industry was valued at two million dollars in 1950 and five million in 1955. The value of the chemical industry grew from eight million dollars in 1950 to 21 million in 1955.

There is an estimated one billion dollars invested in and around Sau Paulo by U. S. companies. General Motors has announced a 10 million dollar expansion plan here. Ford Motor Company is expected to follow suit. In the chemical field, money has been invested by W. R. Grace and Co., Celanese, Union Carbide and others. Union Carbide invested five million in a plastics plant. Borden Chemicals is making formaldehyde and other chemicals in a four million dollar plant.

Although U. S. investments make up about 60 per cent of the total foreign investments in Sao Paulo, other nations are moving in rapidly. Germany has invested 72 million dollars in Brazil since 1952—more than any other nation—and 85 per cent of this money is in Sao Paulo.

The heavy immigration to Sao Paulo has solved one major problem of industrialization that the rest of Brazil faces. In Sao Paulo, there is no lack of technicians for the factories.

"We have our own technical schools now," said one industrialist. "Actually, Sao Paulo needs agricultural experts for the fields. But for the factories, we're training our own."

DAILY EXAMINATION OF PATIENTS AT CONWAY HOSPITAL—Dr. Russell Rigbey, resident physician, is briefed on a patient's condition by Dr. Frank Jones, chief surgeon at Conway. At right, Dr. Jones notes down condition of Bill S. Taylor, of Lillie, who underwent surgery on May 17. Jones has performed three cardiac massages—massaging patient's hearts back into action after they stopped functioning during an operation. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman.)

Heart Is Revived By Doctor's Skill

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Powerful lights glint on surgical instruments. The doctor, in a pale green "scrub suit" works steadily, carefully on the objective of his profession — healing, prolonging human life. And then, suddenly, something happens which sends a numb, sickening sensation thudding through the two doctors, two nurses and the anesthetist in the operating room.

The patient's heart, the muscle which controls the flow of blood through every part of the body, the vital "pump," has halted.

"Hand me a scalpel" — the nurse immediately gives the sharp, small surgical instrument to the doctor and he makes a long incision between the fourth and fifth ribs on the left side of the patient's chest.

Massages Heart

He then starts to massage the heart, continuing for several minutes that seem like an endless period, to the four persons standing by, to the surgeon who is performing the heart massage.

A stimulant is injected into the heart, as the massage continues, in a determined effort to start it into action.

Then, finally, it begins to beat again.

The surgeon's scrub-suit, looks like a glass of water had been emptied down his back, and it clings to him as he finishes the operation, stitches up the incision, indicates that the operation is over, the patient may be taken to the recovery room.

Dr. Frank Jones, one of three chief surgeons at E. A. Conway Memorial, walks out of the operating room, feeling as if he had been through a terrific physical stress — this is the third time that he has massaged a heart back "into action."

First Time

The first time occurred during the autumn of 1956. ' I was putting the bandage on the patient after an operation for an intestinal obstruction, when it happened," he related. The heart massage required ten minutes before it was effective.

Then, one week later, he looked into the operating room. Another surgeon was performing an operation for appendicitis.

"I can't feel his pulse" the anesthetist yelled. Dr. Jones performed another heart massage, and had the vital muscle working again in approximately seven minutes.

This spring, during another operation, he again brought an elderly patient back to normal by performing a heart massage which required nearly 30 minutes.

"I first witnessed such an operation while I was in New Orleans, at the Ochsner Foundation. I was assisting at a heart operation, when the heart stopped beating," he recalls. The surgeon performing the operation did the cardiac massage in this instance, and Dr. Jones observed closely, not suspecting that within a short time he would be called on to do the same "miracle-type" massage.

A native of Cleveland, Tenn., Jones took his pre-medical courses at Carson - Newman college in Jefferson City, Tenn., and was graduated from the Medical school of the University of Tennessee.

Interned in Memphis

He interned at the John Gaston Hospital in Memphis, then went into general practice in Cleveland for two and one-half years. A medical officer in the U. S. Navy for the next two years, he then decided to take a residency with the Ochsner Foundation. That is a four-year stint, with three years at the New Orleans hospital, and the fourth year spent as resident physicial at some other hospital. Jones selected Conway for his fourth year.

A family man, Jones is married to a former resident of Deland, Fla. "She and I went to the same high school in Cleveland, then her family moved to Florida. We were married one year later."

However, he revealed that he's not one who relies on chance — they were engaged before she moved to Florida.

They now reside at 603 S. Fourth street. Two of their youngsters, Sharon and Gwen, aged seven and ten, attend Plum street school, and five-year-old Phyllis goes to the kindergarten sponsored by the Methodist Church.

The youngest member of the family is six-month-old Gregory. The Joneses are active members of the First Baptist Church in Monroe.

In June, they play to return to Cleveland, where he will go into private practice as a surgeon.

Until then, he will perform major operations at Conway, and assist other resident physicians on surgery problems which they encounter.

Repatriation Of Chinese In Dispute

By ROBERT BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent

TAIPEI (UP) — Nationalist China will stand firm in its opposition to accepting 2,400 Chinese the Philippines government wants to send to Formosa.

Officials here say there will be no change in the Chiang Kai-shek government's policy on the Philippine issue despite the Nationalist offer to accept thousands of Vietnamese-born Chinese.

Privately they say there is a great deal of difference in the two problems. The one with the Philippines is now in its seventh year.

Officials here point out that the "overstaying Chinese" in the Philippines apparently do not wish to come to Formosa.

The Nationalist government always has stood ready to accept any of them who applied for entry to Formosa and could meet the qualifications, they said.

Likewise, the Nationalists' May 3 offer to evacuate Chinese from Viet Nam was extended to all who wish to come here of their own free choice.

Different Circumstances

It is genesrally believed here that most of the Chinese in the Philippiness are well enough off to take care of themselves, whereas those in Viet Nam really need help from the government here.

Unofficially, there is an attitude of resentment and even a degree of distrust in certain quarters here towards some of the "overstaying" Chinese in the Philippines.

Chinese here who suffered through the dark days of 1949 and 1950 after withdrawal from the mainland are not inclined to be sympathetic towards those who picked the Philippines instead of Formosa.

Nevertheless, the Nationalist government — with the eyes of millions of overseas Chinese on it — insists it will do all it can for the Chinese in the Philippines, if they justly need help.

The Nationalist government is thankful that the official Filipino attitude has not become hostile, it is believed here that the Philippines could easily absorb the 2,400 overstaying Chinese there.

But officials say that in Viet Nam the arbitrary attitude of the Saigon government and its restrictions on the type of businesss in which the Chinese may engage will make things extremely difficult for Chinese there.

Famed Bombing Trial To Open At Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 25 (AP)—Two young white men face trial Monday in the state's first attempt to avenge the grim outbreak of racial violence which followed the end of bus segregation in Montgomery.

Police have blamed at least part of the reign of terror on the Ku Klux Klan.

Raymond C. Britt Jr., and Sonny Kyle Livingston Jr., are charged with dynamiting two of four Negro churches before dawn last Jan. 10. Two other Negro churches and the homes of two ministers were also bombed that morning.

A Federal Court injunction only 20 days earlier nullified city and state laws which historically had segregated white and Negro passengers on Montgomery buses.

Britt, 27, faces another indictment for the bombing of a Negro taxicab stand in a second outburst of violence Jan. 27.

A county grand jury which indicted the two defendants returned more serious charges against two other white men, James D. York, 52, and Henry Alexander, 27.

They will be called to trail June 3 for the dynamiting of a Negro clergyman's home while members of the family were asleep in the dwelling.

Under Alabama law, the bombing of an inhabited residence is punishable by a prison term of 10 years or more, or death in the electric chair. No one was injured in the explosion at the home of the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

Britt faces a maximum of 10 years' imprisonment of each of three charges. He is accused of bombing Abernathy's church, the Negro First Baptist; the Hutchinson Baptist Church, and the taxicab stand.

Livingston, 18, also is charged with dynamiting the Hutchinson Street Church. The two defendants are expected to demand separate trials.

Britt and Livingston will be tried under a law which prohobits setting off dynamite "in, under or dangerously near to" an unoccupied public building: York and Alexander under a separate statute dealing with the bombing of inhabited dwellings.

Racial feelings which had simmered through a year-long Negro boycott of segregated city buses exploded with violent fury shortly after the buses were ordered integrated last Dec. 21 under a Federal Court decree. The U. S. Supreme Court had ruled bus segregation laws unconstitutional.

Buses were ambushed with gunfire six times and a Negro woman passenger was shot in both legs. Later, when city police arrested the four men now facing trial, they charged Alexander with shooting into one of the buses. He subsequently was indicted for that offense along with the bombings.

Bus service was restricted to daylight operations and then suspended altogether for six days after the city was jarred by a rapid series of bombings Jan. 10.

The dynamite shattered four churches, Abernathy's home and the home of the Rev. Robert S. Graetz, a young white minister who had actively supported the Negroes' fight against segregation. No one was injured.

Seventeen daycab stand and an adjoining house and leaving an unexploded bundle of 12 sticks of dynamite on the front porch of the home of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., recognized leader of the integration campaign.

Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal charged later that four of the bombings were done by "members of the Montgomery branch of the Ku Klux Klan."

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Spray Now For Bug Lace Bugs, And Mold

By William Lanier Hunt

Two of our worst garden pests, in fact, three of the worst are lace bugs, aphids and sooty mold. These three seem to specialize on Southern gardens. Lace bugs not only have lacy wings, but they make lace out of the foliage of azaleas, pyracanthas and other plants at this time of the year. Aphids attack the succulent foliage of anything that has tender buds and leaves. Sooty mold then thrives on the honeydew left by the aphids.

In order to avoid the blackened foliage produced by sooty mold when it coats the foliage of your crape myrtles this summer, spray the aphids as soon as they appear — and they will if they have not already done so. Good old nicotine sulphate and soap to make it stick or almost any good contact spray will eliminate aphids. If you can knock them out, the sooty mold will eventually curl up and fall off because there is no longer anything for it to feed on.

Another leaf coating mildew that sometimes bothers crape myrtles is called powdery mildew. The only way to knock this out, once it has taken hold, is to get it with lime sulphur spray, 1 to 80 for summer spraying.

Your gardenias or cape jasmines may be disfigured by white flies. These may be destroyed with DDT, but watch for red spider later, as the use of DDT is apt to result in spiders. If you can eliminate the white flies, you will again have eliminated the sooty mold, for it lives on the residue left on gardenia leaves by the white flies.

Sooty mold often appears on broadleaf evergreens or thick leaved plants which are growing underneath tulip trees. This is the direct result of the honey dew which tulip tree aphids drop in great quantity on whatever happens to be growing under them. The only thing to do is to move your shrubs because the tulip trees are too worthwhile to remove them. They survive their aphids. In some years the aphids are worse than in others.

Lace bugs can so completely disfigure azaleas and pyracanthas at this time of the year the plants can be considerably damaged by them. Small azaleas are sometimes killed in the beds this way when there is a drought also. Fortunately, lace bugs succumb to nicotine sulphate and soap as readily as aphids do, and we do not have to use but one kind of spray to rid us of aphids, lace bugs and sooty mold.

THE HOME SHIFT

Hibiscus Plants Fill Garden Gaps

By Mildred Swift

Out - of - town gardeners are invited to visit the Twin Cities. Ride around and see our lovely gardens. Be sure to see the daylilies in bloom in Forsythe Park, on Forsythe Avenue at the intersection of Riverfront and Forsythe and Marie Place Boulevard. Also the oleanders in bloom at the lower end of Riverfront and on Lover's Lane, at the foot of the levee and sea wall.

GARDENING

Now, or in early June you can fertilize shrubs and small trees for the second time. Also the lawn. Always water this down well unless we have a rain soon after fertilizing. Since you have a mulch around your plants (or should have) just throw the fertilizer on top of the mulch, roughly figuring a handful for each foot of growth.

J. J. Joyce, Jr., county agent, says not to worry about the tip moth working on the new growth of your pines. According to "J" this tip moth will only prune your pines, making them denser. If you feel you must spray, use 10 per cent DDT and repeat every ten days until the insects leave or die.

If you have found some of your bearded iris looking sick, turning brown, and the base of the foliage appears water - soaked, then you have rhizome rot. A smelly ooze often appears from the leaves and from the rhizome which becomes soggy. Take up the plant, cut away the diseased tissue, dust the cut surface and replant. Move the plant to a new location.

If you have a small garden, you need to do lots of root pruning so plants will not get crowded underground. Sharpen the spade and cut down around the plant where you want to limit the root growth. It wouldn't be advisable to go all around the plant as this would sever too many feeder roots. The privet hedge could stand an all around pruning but few others could take it. Then you can have more underground root room for other plants.

Have you noticed dead limbs or dead tips on your crabapples? This is most likely fireblight for which there is no known relief. There's little danger though, of any permanent damage. Just snip off the dead ends and burn. Now the girdling moth is different. He chews around the crabapple branch and the entire limb dies. He lays his eggs in the dead wood, so cut off the limb, beyond the dead wood and burn.

Some chewing insects are eating on daisies and other annuals and perennials. DDT, cryolite or any other stomach poison will stop that. Read the label on the container for full instructions. Remember sulphur for mildew on crape myrtle. Dust when the foliage is dry.

If you have "gaps" in the garden you want to fill in, hibiscus is your answer. You can buy bucket plants and you'll have blooms in a short time, now. If you're putting out several of these, you'll get a better picture, if you plant all one variety and color. Dr. Kimbrough from LSU says it is better to put this plant where you how protection from a building. If planted in the shade, you won't get as many blooms and you'll have some bud drop. The hibiscus must have well drained soil or they take root rot. The blooms only last one day but they bloom so profusely you don't notice that. The cut blooms keep just as well out of water. If using hibiscus blooms for corsages, place them in the refrigerator until you're ready to make the corsage or wear it.

Since eggs continue to be budget - priced, let's use more of them. Here is a recipe for lunch or dinner.

EGGS CREOLE

3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons melted fat
1½ cups cooked or canned tomatoes
2-3 cup water
1-3 cup uncooked rice
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
4 eggs

Cook onion and green pepper in fat in a rge fry pan until onion is lightly browned. Add tomatoes and water and heat to boiling. Add uncooked rice, salt, pepper. Cover and cook over low heat until rice is tender — 25 to 30 minutes. Stir occasionally with fork to keep from sticking. If rice becomes dry, add more water. Drop eggs on rice, cover; simmer 5 to 10 minutes, or until eggs are as firm as desired. This makes 4 servings.

Serve eggs creole with sausage or franks, which are high protein and attractively priced foods; or perhaps with frozen strawberries or canned plums, which also are plentiful foods right now.

Success On Broadway Is Dearer And Hard As Ever

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Broadway success is getting dearer—and just as hard to catch as ever.

That's the story of the 1956-57 theater season as show business arrives at its traditional summer intermission on new productions and tallies up the year's record.

Altogether 50 enterprises reached the White Way since September, a couple more than last season. Of these 15 are still running and 10 are definite hits. That's three less to hit the mark than the previous year. Several others of course may still make the payoff.

The cost of these dramas, comedies and musicals soared far past the six-million-dollar mark. The 48 productions last year cost 4½ million.

Artistically, there was some falloff from the achievements of the previous summer—critically appraised as the best in a decade—but there was still plenty to please fans too.

The big trend was toward musical comedies, with nine on exhibit now among the 21 offerings extant. (Three musicals, two dramas and a comedy from last season are still on.)

As usual the public showed itself tougher than the professional critics in judging the winners—and in some cases flaunted the experts.

Of the current season's 15 survivors, the pundits rejected three outright and split on four. Of the 33 that have closed, they voted thumping approval to seven.

In addition, London's Old Vic and France's Barrault - Renaud companies made profitable limited engagement visits.

Only two dramas, Eugene O'Neill's prize - sweeping "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and Terrence Rattigan's "Separate Tables" proved clearcut clicks, and another recently opened ONeill opus, "A Moon for the Misbegotten," is still on the boards.

The public approved seven comedies, rejected 12, gave a firm thumbs down to 17 serious plays.

Carried along to the boneyard were the only pair of musicals with faintest intellectual tinge, the disastrous $355,0000 debacle based on Voltaire's "Candide" and a London whimsy, "Cranks."

The closings represented investments of $3,300,000, of which all but a half million remains to be recouped—maybe—through sale to the movies, stock and other subsidiary rights.

Not all of the shutdowns were flops—several made modest profits, and a potential payoff shut because of misfortune rather than inattention.

"Waltz of The Toreadors" closed because of a recurring throat ailment that handicapped star Ralph Richardson. He has taken the summer off for an operation, and the show backers hope to restore it to Broadway in the fall.

The money news wasn't all bad however, by a long shot.

Angels who put up $2,680,0000 for the 15 shows now on exhibit are getting returns on their investments. Five shows — "Auntie Mame," "Long Day's Journey," "L'il Abner," "Separate tables" and "Tunnel of Love" have already paid off their initial cost and are all profit.

Other investors could appreciatively eye the examples of several long runs.

"No Time for Sergeants," on an investment of $100,000 has already cleared a Broadway-only profit of over a million; "The Matchmaker" netted $145,000 profit, "The Diary of Anne Frank," $150,000, and "Inherit the Wind" is reaping a healthy margin although exact figures have not been disclosed.

Charges Denied By Confidential; Trial Demanded

CHICAGO, May 24 (UP)—Confidential magazine today pleaded innocent and demanded an immediate trial on charges of sending obscenity through the mail in an article on abortions.

Stanford Clinton, attorney for Confidential, told Federal Judge Joseph Sam Perry that the magazine is agreeable to an immediate trial without a jury.

The "expose" magazine was indicted by a federal grand jury here last March 8. The Kable Printing Co., Mount Morris, Ill., was named co-defendant.

Clinton told the court that Confidential "takes sole responsibility for the editorial policy, work and authorship" of the article on abortions. He said the printing company had nothing to do with it and should be granted severance.

Johnny Bower of the Providence Reds won the American Hockey League most valuable player award the last two seasons.

How To Use Paste Filler On Hardwoods

DO . . . use wood filler to obtain an exceptionally smooth surface on mahogany, oak, walnut and other open-grained woods.

DO . . mix the paste filler according to the directions on the container, remembering to mix only enough for immediate use, since it hardens and becomes useless after a couple of hours.

DO . . . apply the paste with a stiff brush, scrubbing it into the wood in the direction of the grain . . . waiting a few minutes . . . then wiping, with a burlap pad, in a circular motion.

DO . . . clean up the surplus filler by wiping the wood across the grain with another clean piece of burlap . . . then, with a lint-free cloth, going over the entire surface lightly in the direction of the grain.

DON'T . . . use wood filler unless the surface of the wood has been made absolutely dust-free, otherwise you will be rubbing the dust into the pores along with the filler.

DON'T . . . wait too long before wiping tht wood with a burlap pad in a circular motion; you can tell when to begin this operation by watching the filler which has been scrubbed on: it is ready for wiping as it begins to lose its shine and become dull.

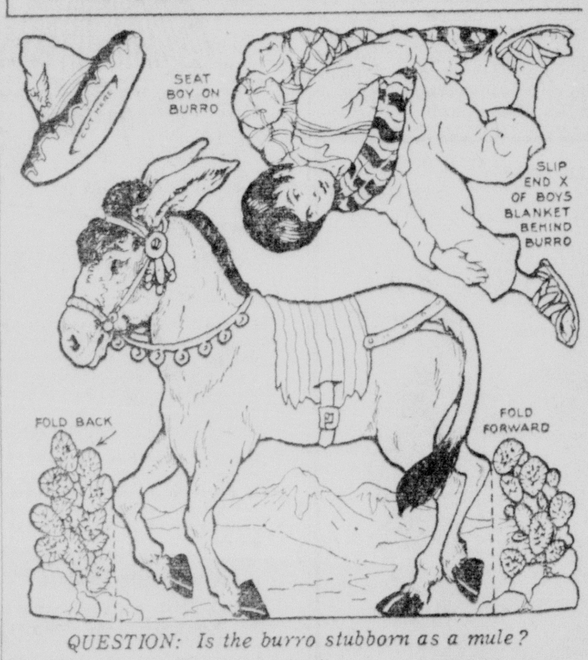
ANIMAL QUIZ



QUESTION: Is the burro stubborn as a mule?

ANSWER: In the mountains of Central and South America, sure footed burros pick their way along steep, rocky trails, loaded down so heavily that only their big heads, long ears and sturdy legs can be seen.

Each burro wears a string of bells to give warning that a pack train is coming along the narrow trails. These hardy little animals can stand all kinds of weather and can live on what greenery they can forage along the way.

Burros make gentle, affectionate pets. But like their second cousin the mule, they show a stubborn streak at times. They are good workers but do not like to be hurried. They like to set their own pace on the trail—and, in fact, will insist on it with mulish stubbornness.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is Pepe, a Mexican boy, and his burro "Bonita," which means beautiful. Color, paste on cardboard, cut and assemble as directed, and save for your animal collection.

EXTENSION NEWS, VIEWS

Casual Dress Show Climaxes HD Week

By Euna Spielman

The last activity in observation of National Home Demonstration Week was a Casual Dress Contest. Fifty-one women and girls modeled dresses they had made by the clothing construction methods taught by Extension Service. In the adult group 31 women were entered. These women, also, selected accessories and modeled the entire costume.

The winner of first in her group was: Mrs. E. S. Blackmon, a member of Thrifty Homemaker's Club. Second place went to Mrs. Albert Sweeney, McGuire Club and third place to Mrs. Herbert Strozier, Drew Club. Mrs. Blackmon will represent Ouachita Parish in the state contest at LSU during Farm and Home Week. Twelve women made dresses that scored perfect in construction and placed in the blue ribbon group.

In the second class, a dress made for a child 1 to 6 years of age by an adult; first place went to Mrs. Cleburne White, Cadeville Club. The dress was modeled by Janice Street. The second place winner was Mrs. J. O. Street, Cheniere Club. This dress was modeled by a niece, Alesa Street. Mrs. S. O. Sharp, placed third and the dress was modeled by her daughter, Judy.

In the class of dresses made for a girl 6-12 years, Mrs. J. E. Fletcher won first. The dress was modeled by her daughter, Linda. Second place winner was Mrs. E. G. Cagle, Cheniere Club, modeled by her daughter, Elaine. Mrs. Roy Farmer, Sterlington Club placed third, and this dress was modeled by her daughter, Sandra.

In the class, dress made by mother and modeled by daughter over 12 years of age, Barbara Ann McCurry placed first, Maurlyne Powell, second, and Caroline Street, third.

In the last class, dress made and modeled by girl, Karen Strozier placed first, Mary Luttrell placed second, and Ellen Fontenot placed third.

Barbecue Time

Now's the time to roll out your grill, or get one ready, for it's barbecue time. The market reports say it is chicken time, too—and what could be better than a chicken barbecue. Barbecue chicken is so eady to do and so easy to serve. You probably have your own pet barbecue sauce — if not, here's one that's mighty good: 1 clove garlic chopped, ½ cup salad oil, ½ cup lemon juice, ½ cup vinegar, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 bay leaf, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 teaspoon tabasco. Put chopped garlic and oil in saucepan — cook until garlic is tender but not brown; add other remaining ingredients and heat until boiling. Use hot sauce for basting chicken as it cooks. And for that barbecue supper all you need is a half chicken per guest, plenty of toss salad, hot buttered French bread (maybe some would have a little garlic butter in it) and a cold drink.

If you want your guests to exclaim um-um! Make your own French bread. If it is hamburgers you are barbecuing, be sure to make your buns and you will be declared by your guests as the grandest of all hostesses. Recipes are available from the Extension Service.

Warm Weather May Bring Polio

Louisiana's polio season usually starts with the advent of warmer weather. Much effort has been directed toward getting all persons under 40 to get three injections of the Salk vaccine. The Louisiana Public Health Service has announced that 10.4 per cent of the persons under 40 in Louisiana have had three shots; 20.7 per cent have had two shots; and 26.4 per cent have had one shot.

Past experience has proved that one injection provides some protection, two injections are better than one, but three are recommended by such medical authorities as the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics and the U. S. Public Health Service, points out Mrs. Abington, specialist in Family Life and Health with LSU Agricultural Extension Service. Chicago's experience last year has proved that every one under 50 needs at least two shots. Statistics show that 25 per cent of polio cases occur at the age of 20 or above, but that 70 per cent of the patients who require respiratory aids such as the iron lung are under 20 years of age. The Salk vaccine has been proved safe. It is available at the Health Center and at your physician's office.

Opening lead: Five of diamonds.

Today's hand provides a useful study in entries for the player of limited experience.

The final contract of three no trump was reasonable enough and was reached without much ado.

South opened in approved fashion with one diamond the suit below the singleton. It is surprising to note how many players even in this enlightened age improperly open two no trump with holdings of this type because the hand contains 22 points.

After North's response of one heart South was tempted to make a jump shift of two spades, but because of the indifferent quality of his suits and because of the desirability of becoming declarer himself if the hand was to be played at no trump, he chose to jump directly to game, though this is somewhat abnormal procedure with a hand containing a singleton.

West opened the five of diamonds and declarer played low from dummy. East played the eight and though declarer could have held the trick with the nine, he chose to take it with the king. It was pretty well established in his mind that West had led from the queen. The retention of the lower diamonds in his hand would permit the jack of diamonds in dummy to serve as a subsequent entry, which was vitally needed if dummy's heart suit were to be brought in.

Declarer then led the king of hearts and overtook with the ace, following up with the jack to drive out East's queen and set up four tricks in that suit. East returned the ten of spades and declarer lost no time in gaining the lead with the ace, since such a trivial matter as an extra trick by way of the spade finesse did not concern him.

He returned a low diamond toward dummy's jack. West went up with the queen, but the jack was now established as an entry and declarer could count on four hearts, three diamonds, and two black aces.

Declarer's winning the opening lead with the king had not cost him a trick. It merely postponed the third trick in that suit.

New Guinea Makes A Bid For Tourists

By ROBERT C. MILLER

RABAUL, May 25 (UP) — New Guinea has put out the "Tourists Welcome" sign, with live volcanos, tropical beauty and modern plumbing as featured attractions.

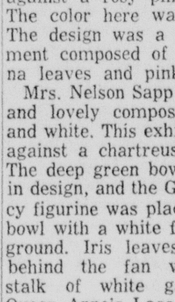
This last frontier of the South Pacific has rebuilt its war-destroyed communities and now invites travellers to enjoy its weird scenery, fish its waters and relax amongst its hospitable peoples.

Modern hotels have been built at such historical spots as Lae, Guadalcanal, Rabaul, Madang and Port Moresby. Qantas links the area with regular scheduled air and flying boat service, and the beer is served ice cold everywhere in these Australian and British-governed islands.

The grandsons of cannibals deftly serve the lobster mornay, off white linen hotel cloths and Qantas stewards pour tea from a silver service while flying over the rustting, bombed out hulks of Japan's navy at Buin, Buka, Finschhafen, Bougainville and "The Slot."

Cotton - skirted "boys" drive shiny new taxis in bare feet, and dial telephones have been installed in Rabaul, Lae and Port Moresby. Tipping is considered improper everywhere in the islands, and the natives in this Utopia consider work an adventure.

Among the array of garden gadgets introduced this year is a Speedy Spot Seeder. The cane-type all-metal tool is designed to distribute any size seed in concentrated patches without the gardener having to stretch and bend . . . fill the hopper, set the seed selector dial and jog on the plunger base. Emphasis is placed on its time and seed conservation qualities, for reseeding those unsightly bald patches that develop in lawns throughout the season. When distributor slots are closed, hopper serves as ideal storage bin for keeping spare seed ready for instant use. It is sold by Terry Koeller Associates, 201 N. Wells St., Chicago, for $3.50 postpaid.—Adv.



GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Glads Featured In Delhi Exhibit

By Mary M. Jardine

An all blue ribbon flower show was staged by members of the Delhi Garden Club at the Garden Center this week. In the horticulture section Mrs. L. P. Craighead was awarded blue ribbons for the following: Painted Daisy, Daylily var. Red Rock Canyon and blue Plumbago.

In the flower arrangement section, Mrs. S. A. Mayes and Mrs. N. E. McElwee, Jr., tied for first place.

Mrs. Mayes created a vertical design using a grayish black slender pitcher with matching base. Dark red canna leaves formed the vertical pattern. Deep red gladiolus enhanced the line which was brought down the side of the container. In the focal area (where the design met the rim of the container) a large cluster of dark red crabapples was grouped. The emphasis here was on color and the design was most appealing.

Mrs. N. E. McElwee chose for her design a hammered copper bowl set on a round black footed base. The design was staged against a rosy pink background. The color here was very lovely. The design was a mass arrangement composed of dark red canna leaves and pink gladiolus.

Mrs. Nelson Sapp created a cool and lovely composition in green and white. This exhibit was staged against a chartreuse background. The deep green bowl was oriental in design, and the Goddess of Mercy figurine was placed high in the bowl with a white fan for a background. Iris leaves were placed behind the fan with a single stalk of white galdiolus. Airy Queen Anne's Lace and variegated pittosporum were massed low in the container completing the design.

You will note that gladiolus were featured in all the arrangements this week. They are so easy to grow and successive plantings may be made every two weeks until the middle of July for continuous bloom. One of our leading nurserymen suggests and recommends that the last planting be in shade or at least protection from the afternoon sun. Best results are obtained from the No. 1 size corms. They should be planted with at least four inches of soil over the top of the corms. This will eliminate staking in the rows. If it is possible to prepare the beds in advance work a little 8-8-8 in the soil several days before planting. Some of the newer varieties available at your favorite seed store or nursery are: Royal stewart, champion red, Maytime, fresh pure pink, caribbean, first ruffled blue, and appleblossom, appleblossom pink color.

Tuesday will find Flower Show School No. 1 under way here in Monroe at the United Gas Building. Registration begins at 8 a.m. Classes as follows: 9-12 a.m. horticulture lecturs, types of plants, Mr. C. G. Hobgood; 12-1, lunch; 1-3 p.m., flower show practice, lecture on duties of flower show committees, Mrs. Hugh Sutherland.

Wednesday, May 29, 9-12 a.m., flower arrangement lectures, Mrs. Sutherland; Thursday, May 30, exam. We hope that every club in the district will have some members attending these schools as the primary purpose is to promote better flower growing and staging of better flower shows. We are all interested in our local shows so let's take a little time to learn more about raising the standards of planning producing, exhibiting and judging the amateur flower shows.

Be sure to visit the day lily gardens in bloom all over this area. They will be in full bloom from now until the first part of June.

JOHN BIRDSONG OF ROYAL FEED & SEED COMPANY ANNOUNCES WAY TO PUT OUT IMPORTED FIRE ANTS

Imported fire ants, like many other native ants, are wingless ⅛ to ¼ inch long, and reddish brown in color, says John Birdsong of Royal Feed & Seed Company. The distinguishing characteristics of the imported fire ant is the mound built to house the colonies. The average mound is 15 inches in diameter and 10 inches in height. In pastures and other cultivated areas, they may be 3 feet or more in diameter and two feet high. Imported fire ants are found throughout the Southeastern States.

Imported fire ants, unless controlled, are especially destructive and annoying. They can cause serious damage to young plants of cabbage, okra, collards, egg plant, potatoes and seed corn. They are extremely painful to humans, and the mounds they build can damage mowing machines and other farm equipment.

Now with special granules containing chloradane and heptachlor, available at Royal Feed & Seed Company, these pests can be wiped out. Sprays and dust provide control for an entire year at a cost of only two or three cents per mound treated. The same treatment used to treat imported fire ants can be used to kill other types of ants also.

Control treatments can be made throughout the year, but the ideal time is during the winter months because the grass is dead and the mounds are easier to find. Treatment of individual mounds is recommended if area is small, or if infection occurs in gardens or truck farms.

Granules are more effective than dust or spray and can be purchased at Royal Feed & Seed Company, 810 DeSiard Street, Monroe.—Adv.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Look for the Twin City Speedway to schedule its "formal opening" almost any weekend now. Gerald Greenway, the track manager, has been hoping to slate his big stock car racing program on the West Monroe oval for the past two weeks, but has been holding off because of threatening weather conditions.

However, these stock car racers are a hardy crowd and have been racing every Sunday afternoon —except one—since the gasoline-burners started their weekly activity back in March. It's been raining off and on all week, but the boys plan to have their usual races again today. As Greenway has always expressed it: "Only a downpour will stop us," and such was the case for the only Sunday missed on the track off the Natchitoches and Downing Pines roads.

Word is out that the stock car racers are planning some special events for their "formal." In the mill is a "Powderpuff Derby" in which wives of the racers will get a turn at the wheel of their husbands' machines.

Haven't heard whether or not Joe Mallard will have his "wreck" ready to run again today. Joe's old beat-up job was slated for the junk heap after his crack-up last week, but he has gone through some hair-raising crashes with the car before and is responsible for most of the repair work Oliver Cloyd has to do to keep his crash-wall in condition.

Young athletes—track and tennis—have two big events in store for them early in June, and entries are now being accepted.

The second annual Crossett Open Junior Tennis Tournament is billed for Crossett, Ark., June 7-8-9 under the sponsorship of the Crossett Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jack E. Meadows, tourney chairman, has reported at least 50 entries are expected from Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas. Offered will be junior boys singles and doubles, junior girls singles and doubles, and boys singles and doubles. Rooms in private homes will be furnished entries free of charge upon request, but hotel and motel accomodations will be available.

At Shreveport, the fifth annual A.A.U. Junior Olympics Track Meet will be held on the Byrd High School oval on June 8, and sponsored by the Shreveport Jaycees. High schools throughout the state have been invited to send contenders.

Three divisions are listed—the senior for 16-17-year olds, intermediate for 14-15-year olds, and junior for 12-13-year-olds. The senior events include 100-yard dash, 220 dash, 440 dash, 880 and mile runs, 440, 880, and mile relays, 120 high and 180 low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, 12-pound shot put, and college discus. The intermediates will have 100 and 220 dashes, 440 and 880 runs, 440 relay, 70-yard high and 120 low hurdles, running broad jump and running high jump, pole vault, 8-pound shot, and high school discus. The juniors have 50 and 100-yard dashes, 220 relay, running broad jump and running high jump.

Interested school and athletes are invited to write the Jaycees, Box 899, Shreveport, for any particulars on the meet.

HANSON STROKE OFF

Wiffi Smith Grabs Sky Women's Lead

ASHEVILLE, N.C., May 25 (UP)—Wiffi Smith, Orange, Tex., a freckle-faced 20-year-old golfer who turned pro only five months ago, fired a 71 today to take a one-stroke lead over Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., in the Land of the Sky Women's Open.

Miss Smith had 215 and Miss Hanson 216.

Miss Hanson, who carded the tournament's low score of 68 in the opening round, today added up a two-over par 39 on the back nine for an 18-hole score of 75. The final round will be played Sunday.

Stocky Miss Smith, playing steady golf throughout the tournament today shot six birdies to Miss Hanson's two. They both got a bogey of number two, and had three each.

Miss Smith didn't even stick around to find out that she had taken the lead, but left for her motel as soon as she had finished the round.

She is not known for talkativeness, and when she is on the course her expression rarely changes.

She looks like that rare individual, the nerveless golfer.

The girl who held the lead through the first two rounds, California's Beverly Hanson, seemed to be having trouble with her approach shot in today's round.

Moving up to a three-way tie for third place was veteran Fay Crocker who was in sixth spot at the end of the second round. Miss Crocker fired a four-under-par 70 to share the 220-mark with Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., and Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, Wis.

In fourth place is Marlene Bauer Hagge, last year's leading money winner with 221.

The 70's, carded by Miss Ziske, Miss Crocker and Vonnie Colby of Hollywood, Calif., were today's lowest score.

Miss Colby is now in sixth place.

1,920 Golfers Seek To Make National Open

NEW YORK, May 25 (UP)—The first contingent in a field of 1,920 golfers starts qualifying play Monday for 143 berths in the 1957 National Open Tournament.

Only one out of every 13.3 qualifying competitors will win a place in the field for the tournament, which will be played at the Inverness Club at Toledo, Ohio, June 13, 14 and 15.

The entry total for this year's 57th U. S. G. A. championship was the third highest in history, falling only eight short of the record 1,928 entered for the 1954 tournament.

Eight professionals and one amateur will play 36 holes at Honolulu Monday in quest of the one tournament berth allotted to Hawaii. The 24 other sectional qualifying tests will be held on Monday, June 3. Qualifying will be determined by lowest medal score for 36 holes.

Defending champion Cary Middlecoff is one of the 19 players exempt from qualifying competition. He will be shooting for a third Open championship to go with those he won in 1949 and 1956.

Four other former champions also are exempt from qualifying. They are Ben Hogan, seeking an unprecedented fifth open title; Julius Boros, Ed Furgol and Jack Fleck. Peter Thompson of Australia, who has won the British Open title for the past three years, also is exempt.

FITNESS PROGRAM

KANSAS CITY, May 25 (UP)—President Eisenhower's youth fitness program will draw the attention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association at a meeting in Chicago next week.

Barons Acquire Three Ex-Pros For Big Eight

BASTROP, La., (Special)—The Bastrop Barons of the Big Eight League have acquired the services of Bob Carter, C. J. Fontana, and Mickey Madden as ex-professional baseball talent to play with the Bastrop club this season, Manager Ed Head has announced. The league permits three ex-pros on each member club.

League play begins June 1 with Bastrop at Springhill, Bernice at Homer, and Minden at Ruston. Teams will play a 30-game schedule with all games slated for Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

Bernice was the 1956 pennant winner.

Besselink Fattens

Has 6-Stroke Lead Entering Today's Final

KANSAS CITY, May 25 (UP)—Big Al Besselink, cocky New York professional with a velvet putting touch, mastered Hillcrest Country Club's par 72 layout again today for a five-under-par 67 and a 204 total at the 54-hole stag of the $22,000 Kansas City Open.

Besslink's hot tour put him six strokes ahead with 18 holes to play Sunday. He started the rounds two shots in front.

Obviously undisturbed by a strong wind with gusts to 30 miles an hour, the 32-year-old Besselink seldom strayed off the narrow tree-lined fairways and hit his pitch shots close for birdie putts.

The handsome 210-pounder complained he should have had at least 65 because of two short missed putts. He went out in 35, one under, and breezed home in 32. He had eight birdies and also carded three bogies.

Defesnding champion Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., moved into second place with a 210 total. He went out in par 36 and came back in 33 to clip three shots off standard for 69.

One stroke behind Wininger was George Bayer, Los Angeles, former pro football player and golf long distance hitter, who fired today's hottest round, a six under par 66. His card showed two eagles, four bogies, six birdies and six pars.

The eagles came on par five holes where he reached the green in two and dropped his putts for threes. It gave him a 211 total.

Deadlocked at 212 were veteran Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., Bill Casper Jr., Bonita, Calif., and Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.

Mangrum, a former National Open champion was only two strokes off the pace at the start of today's round but slipped to a 73. Casper had 71 and Finsterwald 70.

Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y., Masters champion and the favorite here, was tied with Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Jay Brewer, Cincinnati; Paul Harney, Bolton, Mass.; and Jackie Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., at 213. Ford and Burke also slipped to 73s today. Brewer had 68, Harney 70 and Furgol 71.

DeMarco Gets Decision Over Walter Byars

BOSTON, May 25 (AP) — Tony DeMarco mounted a slashing body attack tonight to earn a 10-round decision over Walter Byars at Boston Garden.

DeMarco weighed 147½, Byars 143.

The former welterweight champion seeking another shot at the crown as the No. 1 challenger was forced to go to the midsection by the clever but less effective Byars.

DeMarco's right hand carved crimson impressions across the body of Byars throughout much of the match but the ex-Marine who baffled Sugar Hart as a 6-1 underdog in his last outing, would not yield.

Both boxers are Boston boys.

DeMarco's triumph was the 53rd of his professional career. He has lost nine and drawn once. Byars mark is 16-3-1.

'Clay Pigeons,' Says Williams About Gunning

BALTIMORE Ma., May 25 (UP)—Ted Williams of the Red Sox angrily refused to comment today on a charge that he has been shooting pigeons at Fenway Park in violation of Massachusetts state laws.

An official of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals charged Friday in Boston that Williams had been using a shotgun to help rid the Red Sox ballpark of pigeons during periods when the park was empty of fans.

When asked about the story prior to today's game against the Orioles, Williams snapped, 'Hell, those were clay pigeons" He did not elaborate. The Red Sox slugger then showed the newspaper clipping to manager Mike Higgins, who made no comment.

After that, Williams hastened to the batting cage for practice and after taking his swings, he ran out to the outfield.

He angrily told a reporter he did not care to discuss the matter.

Sources close to the club said they had noticed Williams with a shotgun in the clubhouse during the past week, but added they did not see him shoot.

WASHINGTON, WINS

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., May 2 (UP)— Washington's crew, sparked by a dim hope that the NCAA may relent and admit it to the IRA Regatta next month, blew unbeaten Stanford out of the water today with a five and one-quarter length win in the varsity race after taking the jaycee and freshman events.

FIRST CHICAGO RUN—Luis Aparicio is shown scoring the Chicago White Sox' first run in the opening inning yesterday at Cleveland as the American League leaders downed the Indians, 4-0, on righthander Dick Donovan's one-hit pitching. The catcher waiting for the ball is Hal Naragon. Leading off, Aparico tripled; after a fly by Nellie Fox, the run scored on a sacrifice fly by Minnie Minoso. (AP Wirephoto))

Yanks Crush Nats, 8 To 1

NEW YORK, May 25 (UP)—Home runs by Enos Slaughter, Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron featured a 13-hit attack today as the New York Yankees crushed the Washington Senators, 8-1, to provide Bobby Shantz with his fourth victory.

The victory, coupled with the Chicago White Sox' victory at Cleveland, moved the Yankees back into a second-place tie with the Indians, three games behind the pace-setting White Sox.

The little left-hander, who has lost only to the Boston Red Sox since being obtained from the Kansas City Athletics last February, scattered six hits while striking out three and walking but one.

Slaughter's two-run homer in the first inning, his second of the season, put the Yankees out in front against Pedro Ramos. A single by Billy Martin and Shantz' double accounted for an unearned run in the second. Martin had eluded a rundown between first and second because of an error by shortstop Rocky Bridges.

POLE VAULT RECORD

MODESTO, Calif., May 2 (UP)—Stan Hopkins, a slender sophomore from Orange Coast Junior College, today set a new national junior college pole vault record in winning the event at the state junior college championships with a vault of 14 feet 4 1-2 inches.

Lemon Latest Pitching Ace To Be Injured

CLEVELAND, May 25 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, noted for their pitching strength had a shortage of pitchers today with four of their first-line hurlers out of action.

The latest to join the ailing list was Bob Lemon, who pulled a thigh muscle fielding a bunt in the seventh inning of last night's game with the Chicago White Sox, which the Indians won, 4-3. Trainer Wally Bock says he may be out of action for 10 days.

It is the third such leg injury Lemon has suffered in three seasons, and at 36 he mends slowly.

With Herb Score on the disabled list until June 8 and likely to be unavailable for several weeks beyond that date, manager Kerby Farrell will have only Early Wynn, today's starter agaist the White Sox, from the regular rotation.

Mike Garcia, recovering from a sore leg, may be ready in a few days, and the same holds for relief pitcher Don Mossi, who is recovering from a back injury.

Junior, Senior Leagues Ready To Open Season

The Junior and Senior Softball Leagues open their seasons June 4 and 5 respectively with eight teams in the Junior circuit and five in the Senior loop. The Midget League for boys 13 and under still needs another team and will not be able to get under way until they get one.

The Junior League possibly could open with some more teams and any other teams wanting to enter the league should contact the Community Center not later than Wednesday. The age limit was raised to 16 years of age for the Junior League. The Senior League is for boys 18 and under.

Teams entered in the Junior League are: Trinity Baptist, Southside, Monroe First Baptist, West Monroe First Baptist, Brownsville Methodist, Assembly of God and Brownsville Baptist.

The Senior League should open with LTI, Phi Kappi, Tom Spatafora Grocery, Guerriero's and Hot Rocks. The Midget loop currently has only three teams, LTI, Memorial Methodist and Monroe First Baptist.

Ferriday Starts Softball League

FERRIDAY, La. (Special) — The Men's Softball League will kick off next Thursday night in Ferriday, with four teams competing. Play will begin at Little Boys Park, and play there until the Babe Ruth park is completed, at which time they will move to the new park.

Playing will be the Kiwanis, Rotary, Interstate and Independents.

Agostini 1st As Morrow Pulls Down

By HAL WOOD

MODESTO, Calif., May 25 (UP) —Mike Agostini, diminutive sprinter from Trinidad and Fresno State College, won the 100 yard dash at the California Relays tonight in a photo finish with Arlando.... Hazley of Oklahoma A&M.

With Bobby Morrow, the Olympic champion from Abilene Christian a late scratch, Agostini won in the very ordinary (for these men) time of 9.5 seconds.

As a matter of fact, Willie White, running in the state junior college meet, held in conjunction with this one, did better — setting a national J.C. record of 9.4 as he smashed the old 9.5 mark originally set 17 years ago by Hal Davis of Salinas Junior College.

Some of the luster was taken from the meet by Morrow's withdrawal.

Oliver Jackson, Abilene Christian coach, sent a telegram this afternoon to Tom Moore, relays director.

"Sorry, Morrow unable to compete as he is slightly ill following the Coliseum Relays and he has three examinations Monday," the telegram read.

Hazley was clocked in the same time as Agostini, finishing only inches behind. Ken Dennis of the Southern California striders was third, and Terry Randall of Fresno State was fourth.

Tech Pitcher Is Tops For 1957 Season

BIRMINGHAM, My 25 (AP)—It's official—unbeaten Buddy Blemker, who pitched Georgia Tech to the Southeastern Conference baseball championship, is the top SEC hurler of 1957.

Final official baseball statistics of the season were released by SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore. They put Blemker on top of the pitching pedestal, and placed .405-hitting Fred Frickie of Alabama first in batting performance.

Blemker, a lefthanded sophomore, won six regular season starts and then was victorious in both of the Georgia Tech-Alabama battles for the 1957 SEC crown.

Frickie, a junior first baseman for the Tide, collected 20 hits in 79 times at bat and scored 20 runs.

Joe Gibbon, Mississippi's pitcher, outfielder and ace pinchhitter, outhit Frickie with a .425 mark on 17 hits in 40 tries. Moore, however, required 60 at bats as the minimum for consideration in the championship derby.

Runner-up to Frickie was John Lee Gainey of Mississippi with a .385 mark. Buddy Wittichen, also of the Rebel squad, was second in the pitching department with a 4-0 record.

To Make Comeback

PORTLAND, Ore., May 25 (UP) —Former middleweight King Carl (Bobo) Olson will make his first comeback attempt since he failed to regain his crown against Sugar Ray Robinson last year in a June 18 "catch-weights" fight wits Joey Maxim, ex-light heavyweight champion.

Babe Ruth Rosters Set; Start June 3

The Babe Ruth League, planning to open its season on June 3, will operate as a four-club circuit this year because of a shortage of 13-year-old talent.

Bill Dyer, league president, in announcing the club rosters last night, said league rules requiring that at least five 13-year-olds be listed for each club had made it necessary to cut to a four-team circuit.

"We have some mighty good 14 and 15-year-old boys who will not be able to play this year because we haven't enough 13-year-olds to meet roster requirements," Dyer said. "We're actually short four boys in the lower age for the clubs we have, but hope to find them by the time the season opens. If we could get 14 more 13-year-olds right quick we might be able to arrange for the other 14 and 15s to play."

The club rosters:

Moose Lodge (Bill Crowe and Bill Taylor) — Jimmy Peters, Ray Jones, Joey McGinn, Carl Davis, Aubrey Patton, Jeff Nappier, Perry Gubbs, Bill Stadler, Don Steadman, Jimmy Stringer, Sammy McGowen, Charlie Traves, Mike Windham, Edward Pettes, John Coronado.

Walter Reed Refrigeration (C. L. McMullins) — Charlie Dykes, Ronnie Sims, James Cromwell, Bucky Buckner, Mickey Cox, Devon Payne, Jim Schroder, L. M. Welch, Charles Fallin, Prentice Stokes, Ronnie Cupples, Bruce McGee, Wayne Pitcher, Wayne Rader, and Tommy Goldman.

Quality Food Plan (Herb Henry) — Joe Cage, Harry Crowe, Norman Pace, Danny McEacharn, Jimmy Brown, Earl Hunt, Jimmy Van Zol, Frank Keith, Tom Dupuy, James Kyles, Truett Nolan, Jim Theus, Joe Swink, Johnny Butler, and Bill Spinks.

Dyer said any additional 13-year-olds may register by contacting Jimmy Hobbs, player agent for the sponsoring Optimist Club, at telephone FA 3-0528.

Giants Check Bum Rally For 8-7 Win

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 25 (UP)— Curt Barclay, sixth New York pitcher, halted a Brooklyn Dodger comeback surge today and then singled home the game-winning run in the ninth inning to give the Giants an 8-7 victory.

Barclay was called in when the Dodgers battled back from a six-run deficit to trail by only 7-6 in the eighth inning. He permitted a sacrifice fly by Junior Gilliam that tied the score, but stopped Brooklyn cold the rest of the way. Barclay struck out three of the seven batters he faced.

With two out in the ninth inning, singles by Daryl Spencer and Whitey Lockman brought Barclay to bat with men on first and third. His bouncing single to right off Don Drysdale, the sixth Dodger pitcher, scored Spencer with the tie-breaking run.

The Giants belted Dodger starter Johnny Podres for four runs in the first inning, three on a homer by Ray Jablonski, and added two more off Podres in the third on Willie Mays' 'wrong field" homer, two walks and Ray Katt's single.

Brooklyn picked up a run in the third when Giants starter Al Worthington walked Duke Snider with the bases loaded. The Dodgers added four more in the sixth against relievers Stu Miller and Sandy Consuegra. Two of the runs resulted from Gino Cimoli's homer off Consuegra.

Mays, who is batting .600 against Brooklyn pitching this year, tripled home the Giants' seventh run in the eighth inning to complete a perfect day at bat.

Chisox Shut Out Indians, 4-0

Dick Donovan Puts Redskins Away On 1 Hit

CLEVELAND, May 25 (AP)—Chicago right - hander Dick Donovan blanked the Cleveland Indians on one hit - a double - today and the first place White Sox took a 4-0 win from the Tribe, aided by home runs from the bats of Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso.

Eddie Robinson, a pinch hitter playing first base because Vic Wertz suffered a pulled leg muscle last night, got the double in the second inning, after Rocky Colavito had walked. It was his first hit of the season.

In that inning Cleveland had the bases loaded, but all the runners were stranded. Fox threw out Chico Carrasquel, Colavito holding third, and catcher Hal Naragon was purposely passed to fill the bases. Then George Strickland flied to Minoso and Early Wynn, destined to be the losing pitcher, grounded to Fox.

Donovan, who is 29, walked only three, and struck out four. It was his third victory, compared with one loss. Wynn now is 5-4.

Chicago's win brought its lead over the second place Indians back to three games, where it had dropped after last night's Cleveland victory. The White Sox had won nine straight before that.

Phillies Paste Bucs With 5th Straight Loss

PHILADELPHIA, May 5 (UP) —Chico Fernandez broke a 4-4 tie with a steal home in the fourth inning today and Stan Lopata followed with a two-run homer as the Philadelphia Phillies went on to defeat Pittsburgh, 8-6, for the Pirates' fifth straight loss.

The surge tagged Pirates starter Ronnie Kline with his sixth loss without a victory and hung the 12th defeat on the Bucs in their last 15 games. It was the Phils' 10th win in their last 14.

The Pirates, hitting Harvey Haddix freely in the opening innings, led 4-3, after a two-run fourth inning. The Phils, who rapped Kline for three in the second, broke out again on singles by Bob Bowman and Fernandez, which ended Kline and brought on R. G. Smith.

6-Man Royal On Mat Card

The Kallio Arena ring will be packed tomorrow night — six wrestlers trying to maim each other and two referees trying to keep order. It'll be a 6-man wrestle royal with every man for himself and no time limit.

The star-studded card will have Frank Hurley, The Brown Monster, Black Jack Dillon, George Curtis, Earl Guess and Bill Barney leading off in the free-for-all. The first two unlucky wrestlers to be pinned or otherwise put out of commission will be finished for the night. The second two gents to lose will return in a semi-final bout with a 45-minute time limit. The two survivors of the wrestle royal tangle in the 2-out-of-3 fall main event. They'll have a 90-minute limit.

The Monday night matches will introduce three newcomers to the Monroe fans, Earl Guess, Jackson, Miss., The Brown Monster, a 287-pound giant of unknown name and origin, and Black Jack Dillon of Chattanooga. Hurley, Curtis, and Barney are well known here, having appeared on numerous Kallio cards.

C. L. Cook and Loy Scarborough will attempt to keep the rough stuff to a minimum and, considering the reputations of several of the participants, notably Dillon, it's going to be a tough job.

It is said that Dillon has probably been banned, barred, disqualified and hated in more wrestling rings than any other fighter alive. One New York arena banned the 240-pound Tennessean forever for using a blackjack on his opponent — and the referee.

Using his favorite holds, the back breaker and the pile driver, to devastating adantage, Dillon is a deadly opponent. He'll be meeting some tough cookies himself Monday night. Hurley, current Louisiana heavyweight champ, has shown Monroe fans he ranks with the best. The big Aussie whipped Tom Zaharias in his last appearance here.

On his size alone, The Brown Monster rates as a danerous wrestler. However, he must be rated an unknown factor since little is known about him. Guess falls into the same category.

Curtis, one of the Vicksburg brothers, has a good record here and lots of fans in this area. Barney has appeared in the local ring on many occasions, both as a wrestler and a referee. He fought Nelson Royal to a draw in his last appearance here.

Jersey Stakes Fall To Iron Liege By Nose

CAMDEN, N. J., May 25 (UP) —Calumet Farm's Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby winner, turned back a bitter stretch challenge at Garden State Park today to win the $62,400 Jersey Stakes by a nose in the fastest running of the race.

Taking the lead shortly after the start of the mile and one-eighth race, Iron Liege held a commanding lead as the field of 11 three-year-olds entered the stretch. But Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem went after the Calumet Farm charger in the straightaway, and in a stirring battle that had a crowd of 37,783 screaming, Iron Liege just managed to sneak under the wire in the sparkling time of 1:48 over a fast track.

With Bill Hartack in the saddle, Iron Liege, in scoring the second stake triumph of his career, thus gave Calumet Farm its second straight victory in the race and enriched its treasure chest with a winner's purse of $44,300.

John J. Kelley's We Trust, a 50 to 1 shot, was third, eight long lengths behind the first two finishers in the 18th running of the Jersey Stakes.

Then came One-Eyed King, Promised Land, Inside Tract, Harmonizing, Barbizon, Mister Jive and Bakht.

Minor Baseball Needs Skipper

The Minor Baseball League, subsidary of Little League, needs one club manager to fill requirements for the opening of the season, Jack Hesketh, Monroe recreation director, said yesterday.

"We have sponsors for every club, but need one more manager at once," Hesketh said. "Anyone desiring to manage a team is invited to contact me by telephoning FA 2-2170. The team needing the manager is a southside club."

Grandfather Paces Speedway Sprints

NDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25 (UP)—Paul Russo, 43, a grandfather, paced 14 qualifiers today for next week's 500-mile auto race.

Rain again played havoc with the time trials, leaving 10 positions still open for the 41st annual Memorial Day classic.

The trials are scheduled to end Sunday night, but a weather forecast of scattered showers might extend the sprints until Monday or even Tuesday.

Nine cars were qualified on the opening day last Saturday and Sunday was rained out. There now are 23 cars in the field at an average speed of 141.680 miles per hour—more than one mile an hour faster than last year's starting field.

Russo, a native Hoosier who now makes his home in Canoga Park, Calif., roared around the "brick yard" at an average of 144.817 mph, the fastest for this year's grind and the fifth best in speedway history. He drove the same powerful Novi in which he crashed while leading the 1956 race.

This will be Russo's 11th "500." His best finish was eighth place in 1954.

About 35,000 fans watched today's trials. They also saw two accidents, involving rookies Jim McWithey, Anderson, Ind., and Jud Larson, Tulsa, Okla. McWithey hit the wall in the northeast turn while warming up to qualify. He escaped serious injury but the car was out of the race.

Larson spun twice in the southwest turn on a warm-up lap but neither he nor his car was damaged.

Stretch Rush Gives Social Climber Win

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 25 (UP)—Social Climber, considered the lesser half of the Llangollen Farm entry with Porterhouse, closed with a big rush in the stretch today to capture the $116,800 Californian Stakes at Hollywood Park by a length and a half.

Social Climber and Round Table, only three-year-old in the mile and a sixteenth race, fought it out down the stretch but Social Climber under a strong ride by Jockey Willie Shoemaker gradually pulled away in the drive for the wire. Alfred Vanderbilt's Find was third and Terrang finished fourth in the field of 12 starters as Porterhouse finished far in the rare.

The four-year-old son of Your Host raced the mile and a sixteenth in the fast time of 1:40 2-5 and the Llangollen Farm entry paid $4.40, $2.50 and $2.20 across the board. Round Table returned $3.40 and 2.70 for place and show and Find paid $2.70 to show.

The Californian was held a few minutes after Round Table's trainer, Willie Molter, was ordered suspended at the end of today's racing program because a horse in his barn, Joe Price, was found to have been stimulated in winning a race last Wednesday although the California racing board in suspending Molter until June 27 said he was not accused of doping the horse. California racing laws hold the trainer responsible for the condition of horses in his care.

Although Molter had to rush from the meeting at which he was suspended to the saddling paddock to get Round Table ready for the race, the colt which had finished third in the Kentucky Derby ran a big race and but for having to be steadied around the first turn by jockey Ralph Neves he might have been closer or won the race.

Joe Cage All-State In Javelin

Neville Frosh With 10 From Area On Team

SHREVEPORT, La., - (Special) —North Louisiana prep track and field stars grabbed ten of 27 berths on the fifth annual Louisiana Sports Writers Association all-state cinder club, which is based on the best times, distances and heights for the 1957 season.

The Byrd Yellow Jackets of Shreveport, runner - up to Baton Rouge in the Class AAA chase, headed the "northern" delegation with five all-staters in sprinters Pat Studstill and Bo Bampbell, hurdler Joe Hill, high - jumper Dickie Carpenter and relayman Hayden Hicks.

Hicks joined with Studstill, Hill and Campbell to clock the best mile relay time of the season—a snappy 3:26.3.

Other North area thin-clads to make the club included Pat Garrett of Ruston, the state's fastest sprinter, dashman Ed Williams of Jena, broad-jumper Fred McKellar of Plain Dealing, miler Wayne Olds of Shreveport's Fair Park and javelin-tosser Joe Cage of Neville.

Garrett, the son of Ruston coach L. J. "Hoss" Garrett, was easily the state's outstandin running star. He dazzled the Class AA ranks with a 09.5 century romp and a 20.7 furlong.

His 100-yard dash time ranks as the third best in all-time national prep records. Only the 09.4 clockings of Ohio's Jesse Owens in 1933 and California's Jim Jackson in 1954 were faster — and Owens, an Olympic great, was almost 20 years old at the time.

Cage's javelin peg of 181' 4½" during the season was second - best to the 182-footer of LaGrange's Al Nesmith this season. Cage accomplished his heroic spear throw while only a 14-year -old freshman at Tigertown. He could tear the record book apart before he's through.

Williams and Campbell are also future prospects. Both are sophomores.

The 27 all-staters bettered 11 of the 17 all-time state composite records for all classes during the full season although most of the top marks won't go into the record books. Only records set at the state meets are recognized as new standards.

Performances in the century, furlong and half - mile sprints, 120-yard high hurdles, all three relays and the discus, pole - vault, broad jump and hop-step-jump were either equal to or better than ever before.

The 27-man roster is 15 less than last spring's lineup and six less than in 1955. The 1954 team numbered 28.

Class AAA carried the strongest representation—19.

Eight 1956 all-staters returned for another whirl—the fabulous Don Troutman of Roanoke; Campbell, Hill and Carpenter of Byrd; Joe Harris of Baton Rouge; John Hinton of Lake Charles' LaGrang Olds of Fair Park; and Dick Durham of Hammond Southeastern.

Troutman, Hill and Harris, in fact, made the team for the third straight season, joining former New Iberia sprint great Allen Semar as the only three-time selections.

Three other 1956 all-staters failed to make the grade this year — distance harriers Glenn Hartsell of Haynesville and Buddy Eiland of Farmerville and relayman Kip Heimindinger of Lake Charles.

Baton Rouge, which snapped Byrd's three - year domination of Class AAA, topped the individual representation with seven of the 27 berths. Byrd was next in line with it's five candidates.

In the standout department, Troutman and Al Nesmith of LaGrange copped positions in three different events but recognition will also have to be given to Reserve's Myron Brady, the state's best distance galloper, and Ruston's Garrett, Louisiana's fastest sprinter for 1957—and perhaps for all time.

Brady had the best 880 and mile times for the year and was also tied with the second-best 440 clocking for the season — a scintillating 49.9.

Nesmith was a giant in the field for the Gators, his put of the shot and plate-pegging ranking second best in both departments and his javelin throw of 182-feet standing as the best Pelican State loss of '57.

But, Garrett, Brady and Nesmith will have to make way for Troutman as far as greatness is concerned. The all-time prep ace from Class C Roanoke clocked a 49.5 in the quarter-mile at the state meet and his broad jump and hop-step-jump distances rank fifth and third respectively in all-time national high school records.

Add in a 9.9 100-yard dash last year, a 50' 9½" shot put and assorted other events and you probably have the greatest all-around cinder star in the history of Louisiana.

Many of the current crop of stars graduate this spring but more records will be tumbling next year on the sixth annual LSWA track and field array. When such young prospects as Cage of Neville, sophomore Ed Williams of Jena and soph Bo Campbell of Byrd add their improvements to the senior poise of the pole-vaulting Harris and such milers as Olds, Hartsell and Eiland, 1958 will be another banner year for the spiked-shoe clan.

Braves Use 21 Men To Down Cubs, 7-6

CHICAGO, May 25 (UP) —The Milwaukee Braves used 21 men, everyone except Danny O'Connell and three pitchers, today to grab a 7-6 victory from the Chicago Cubs.

Hank Aaron's eight inning sacrifice fly, which scored Bill Bruton from third, proved the deciding blow. Bruton earlier tripled in Del Crandall.

The major league record for players used by one club in a nine-inning ball game is 24, set by the Brooklyn Dodgers against the New York Giants in 1938.

U.S. Cuppers In Command In Zone Play

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 25 (UP)—The U. S. team of Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Bernard Bartzen of Dallas, Tex., defeated Venezuela in Davis Cup tennis doubles today, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, to take a 2-1 lead in matches in their best-of-five series.

The Venezuelan team of Iyo Pimentel, who had upset Grant Golden in singles Friday, and young Ricardo Lopez played spotty tennis, while the Americans maintained steady pressure and appeared confident of victory from the start.

The first set was well-contested, with the Americans getting the necessary service breakthrough as Lopez netted several overhead volleys, a shot which gave him trouble all day.

In the second set the Venezualans went into a brief lead, but Seixas and Bartzen, raising their game a bit, soon regained control and ran out the set.

Seixas and Bartzen got away to a 3-0 lead in the third set before Venezuela rallied to tie at 3-3 in their last effort. The U. S. duo once again went into high gear and Venezuela was finished.

Orioles Rout Red Sox With 17 Hits

BALTIMORE, May 25 (UP)—The weak-hitting Baltimore Orioles exploded for five runs in the first inning today to drive Bob Porterfield from the mound and trounced the Boston Red Sox today, 12-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Billy Loes.

The Orioles pounded out 17 hits, including a three-run homer by Gus Triandos and a solo home run by George Kell. Porterfield was hurt by two errors by the Boston infield in the first inning but was battered for five hits and retired only one batter before being replaced by Rudy Minarcin.

Loes, who won his fourth game against three defeats, was in danger of being scored on in only the seventh, when the Red Sox loaded the bases with one out, and in the eighth, when the Red Sox loaded the bases with one out, and in the eighth, when they had runners on first and third with two out.

The eccentric right-hander preserved his shutout by striking out Gene Stephens and pinch-hitter Mickey Vernon in the seventh and getting Ted Williams to hit into a double play in the eighth. Williams walked twice but went hitless in two times at bat to deflate his league-leading average by seven points to .410.

That sweet, smooth and sassy new Chevrolet likes nothing better than to head for the wide open spaces. Its velvety V8 purrs with pleasure when your toe tells it to reel off the miles and level out the landscape!

If you're looking for a real "escape artist," a car that loves to step out and get away from it all—well, it just happens that Chevy was born with that urge.

If there ever was a car that loved to cut loose and cover the miles, it's this one. Yet it's so beautifully behaved, so easy to handle that it even makes city traffic seem a bit lighter and parking places a bit bigger.

Chevy's pretty easygoing out on the highway too. Not pokey. Far from it. You find, for example, there isn't a hill around that can make it breathe hard—not with Chevrolet's high-performance V8 on the pulling end. You've got up to 245* horsepower here for the biggest helping of driving pleasure found in the low-price field!

Chevy's new Positraction rear axle (optional at extra cost) puts still more pleasure in your driving. It delivers greater power to the wheel that grips, not the wheel that slips. You have surer control and better traction on any road surface.

Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's before another good driving day goes by.

Probe Of Negro Activities Urged

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 25 (AP) — Looking for a new weapon to defend Alabama's traditional social pattern, the Legislature may turn to a fullscale investigation into recent activities of Negro groups.

Montgomery's Sen. Vaughan Hill Robison offered a resolution before the House lawmakers Senate recessed for the weekend yesterday to set up a joint Senate-House racial investigating committee.

In the House, Rep. Charles W. McKay Jr. of Talladega introduced a bill to give the governor and other public officials, including judges, a lever to use against the U. S. Supreme Court.

McKay's bill would authorize Alabama officials to disregard any Supreme Court decision the Legislature declares 'null and void" and a violation of states rights under the federal Constitution.

The Talladega House member, who is Alabama's Democratic national committeeman, sponsored the first nullification resolution to pass a Southern Legislature. It was adopted by Alabama's Legislature in 1955.

This week the Legislature approved a broadened version of the original, also sponsored by McKay, which challenges seven decisions of the Supreme Court, including the 1954 decree ordering racial integration in the public schools.

Under McKay's bill public officials are directed to abide by the Legislature's interpretation of what Supreme Court decisions they must abide by even though they are compelled by law to defend and support both the state and federal Constitutions.

In failing to comply with the proposed new state law, officials would be subject to possible impeachment for 'malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance" in office.

The Montgomery senator's resolution asking for an investigation into activities of certain Negro groups which have challenged Alabama's segregation laws, did not identify them by name.

It provides for an eight-member committee with power to subpoena witnesses and records and compel witnesses to testify under oath.

Robison's resolution didn't mention the Montgomery Negro bus boycott and the federal court ruling banning segregated seating on city buses here.

It did refer to "recent attacks on our traditional way of life." And said they "can only result in racial turmoil strife and tension."

Frosty White Accents Go To The Feet

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The newest spring fashions have white frosting — and the newest place to find it is on your shoes.

White hats, white jabots, white chiffon scarfs and white gloves add crisp accents to spring costumes. And now white leather trimming adds new interest to shoes. It is seen on black patents, dark leathers, the new blond tones and the vivid colors that form the spring shoe lineup. The white leather accent may be a bow, a toe cap, a slim collar or a series of narrow bands across the toe.

The new white - trimmed shoes suggest effective accessory tie-ups in the form of white leather handbags and gloves.

Black and white, gray and white, beige and white and orange or turquoise and white have been added to the standard navy and white combination. There are contrasting leather textures, too — white calf with suede, white patent with black patent, white grained leather with smooth kid or calf.

Simple Rules For Keeping Boss Happy

By VIVIAN BROWN

If that summer job in the offing is one you'd like to have on a permanent basis after you are graduated from school, better be prepared to put your best self forward. How? By making the boss happy he hired you, instead of rueing the day. Many a summer job has led to a wonderful career because the student put so much into the temporary employment that the employer was anxious to have her back.

These are ways you can make a hit on the job, further your chances of advancement and increase your take - home pay, say girls who've held summer jobs:

1. Plan to observe all rules and regulations of your firm. The fact that older employees abuse privileges doesn't mean they are fooling anyone.

2. Be reliable. Develop a sense of responsibility to the job so that you may be depended upon by the employer. Arrive promptly at your desk, barring unavoidable and unforseen delays.

3. Let the "mice play when the cat's away." If your boss takes a day off to go to the ball game, it doesn't mean that the entire office should go on strike. He'll know what your work output should be, no doubt, so if you slacken off it'll catch up with you.

4. An "I hate the boss, too" attitude will get you no place if you are following the example set by dissatisfied employees. There are always people who have a chip on their shoulder, and resent anyone in authority, justifying it anyway that comes to mind. If you don't like your boss for one reason or another, resign from your job, rather than make yourself miserable and your boss an unfair target of your criticism.

5. Dress properly for work — avoid wearing dungarees and sloppy dress to an office. Perk up for an office job, avoiding fancy clothes and accessories such as tight apparel, too - short skirts, revealing necklines, dangling earrings, too - high heels, heavy makeup. Eyeshadow and mascara will not make you look older if that is what you are trying to achieve.

6. Desk hopping is the mark of a slacker. Before you stamp yourself as a water - cooler lingerer, quick on the coffee - break uptake, consider that you are being paid for so many hours work, and your boss has every reason to expect you to be on the job when he looks for you. Any firm recognizes that brief respites are necessary, but don't run a good thing into the ground.

7. Even if you are the femme fatale of your class, don't try to work your feminine wiles on your boss to hold your job. If he isn't getting the work out of you, he won't have you back anyway, so it'll be a waste of time to expend so much effort to charm him. Be pleasant without being overly exuberant to your employers.

8. If you want to establish a good work record, avoid taking a day off for every little thing. Any working girl owes it to her job to get a good night's rest so she can appear bright - eyed and alert each day. If she is compelled to take time off because of her late hours, the employer will soon catch up with the idea.

Around Monroe

FORSYTHE PARK is lovely now with the oleanders and yellow day lilies full in bloom—you must ride by today and see them—be sure to take the drive inside the park so as to get the effect of the lilies with the oleanders in the background.—Mr. Joe Ellis says that we have Mrs. V. C. Spatafora to thank for starting the planting of the oleanders along the sea wall on South Grand Street—the ones on Riverside Drive were grown from cuttings of the bushes on the South Side.

MONROE'S CITY BEAUTIFICATION BOARD has done a wonderful job with the planting on the neutral grounds and the parks of our City. When the Board first came into being Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. A. G. McHenry, and Miss Emy Lou Biedenharn were instrumental in starting the beds of yellow day lilies throughout Monroe. Mrs. Wilson Ewing is the chairman of the board at this time.

LAST NIGHT the Bayou DeSiard Country Club was colorfully decorated with Chinese lanterns for lights, fans as favors for the ladies, and real Chinese food was served. Bill Riley and his committee, Mrs. J. W. Adcock, Henry Biedenharn, Jr., R. L. Vanderpool, Mrs. H. G. McDonald and Mrs. V. H. Rivers deserve praise.

DID YOU GO to one of the Alumni banquets this past week?—It is such fun to renew school acquaintances on this night—the Neville Alumni honored Mrs. Mary Henrietta Bethards McGee by naming her "Mother of the Year." Mrs. Ted Allen and Frank Breece worked together to make this year's banquet outstanding.

REYNOLDS M'WILLIAMS was in town Thursday—that California sunshine must be good for people. Our beloved "Mrs. Mac" didn't feel up to the trip to Monroe and stayed in Vicksburg with her sister. The family returned to Memphis, Tenn., Saturday where Reynolds has been visiting his sister and mother, Mrs. Hal McGeorge and Mrs. J. W. McWilliams.

THAT GOOD "OLE" SUMMER TIME is close at hand—week-end trips and swimming parties are all ready taking place. Friends are enjoying the Clay Wilson pool—son, Mike entertained his seventh grade class with a swimming party on Monday—from the sounds—it was a great party.

RELAXING AND ENJOYING THE FISHING on Lake Bruin at the Biedenharn Camp this week end are Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Sager and sons, Mike and Harlan, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Jr., and two children, Day and Clay. Hope the fishing was good.

THIS MORNING a delicious breakfast at the Hotel Virginia, with Mrs. Faye Heard as chairman, ended the B. and P. W. convention. One hundred and fifty ladies from throughout the state attended the meeting.

THERE ARE THREE NIGHTS left in which you can see "Our Town" at the Monroe Little Theatre playhouse at Selman Field.

MISS ADA SUE ROACH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Aubrey Roach, of Calhoun, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Charles Ellis Finley is announced today. Mr Finley is the son of Mrs. F. M. Finley and the late Mr. Finley also of Calhoun. The wedding will be solemnized on June 22nd at 8 o'clock in the evening at the New Chapel Hill Baptist Church in West Monroe.

MRS. W. H. AUTTONBERRY, the former Miss Brenda Joyce Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Perkins, of West Monroe, whose marriage to Mr. W. H. Auttonberry on Friday, May 3, in Greenville, Miss., is announced. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Auttonberry also of West Monroe.

Alluring Window Displays In Paris Trap Many Tourists

PARIS — Paris shop windows are being dressed up for the summer tourists. The French strive to be as famous for alluring window display as they are for food and fashions.

But not everything that tempts is a solid bargain, and it's a wise tourist who knows the specialities that are relly worth buying.

Perfumes and liquors are probably the best buys, simply because they cost a lot more at home. France is the world's biggest and best manufacturer of perfumes, but stick to the well-known names in shopping, and smell your way. Shops love to spray you with every scent in the house, until you smell like a mixed bouquet. Customs permit only one bottle of a kind, remember.

Gloves are good, (they start at about $4), but watch out for cheaper ones which may dye the wearer's hands. In fact, never assume anything is color - fast in France unless it's guaranteed to be. Beautiful silk scarves, a classic gift from Paris, are often a blurred ruin after one dip in the basin.

Attractive costume jewelry, is more expensive than it's American equivalent, and the gilt is more likely to tarnish.

American visitors say that handbags are a bargain. One delighted shopper declared that she would have paid at least $50 in New York for a sizeable calf bag, leather lined and handstitched, which she found for $17 in a small department store here.

The department stores, incidentally, are increasingly style-conscious and well worth visiting, but they are not cheap by comparison. Besides the biggest one, Printemps and Galleries LaFayette near the Opera, one of the best for women's gifts and accessories is Francks, Rue de Passy. It carries the best of the ready - made fashions and has a good hat department. Primavera, a department of Printemps, specializes in the most modern and novel small home furnishings and decorations, such as hand-painted door-knobs, ashtrays, vases.

Even men usually like shopping Seine bookstalls for old prints, maps or books. These are well-picked over, so don't expect to turn up any old masters or first editions. You can still buy original prints of famous artists such as Dufy and Matisse at Left Bank print shops along the Rue de l'Universite, but where these cost a few hundred francs after the war, they now start at several thousand.

The Flea Market may no longer be a treasure trove, but it's still fun for antique lovers, and persistent searchers can still turn up grubby bargains that only need a good polishing.

Afternoon Tea Honors Mrs. R. E. Whatley

A lovely function of this Wednesday afternoon honored Mrs. R. E. Whatley, longtime teacher in the Rayville schools, who retires from the Richland Parish school system this year.

At this time Mrs. Whatley also received a pair of sterling candlesticks, gift of appreciation from the Elementary School faculty members and Mrs. E. B. Green; and a blue china platter and gravy boat, the gift of members of the Lambda Kappa Club.

You probably know that roast beef should stand about 20 minutes before carving. But did you know that it's a good idea to give baked ham the same waiting treatment?

Young Moderns Decorate With Cigar Bands

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Young people have revived an art popular with their grandparents before World War I — decorating with cigar bands.

The method hasn't changed, but the items decorated are different. Grandma concentrated on ash trays and vases. Young people today decorate items to be found in their rooms — lampshades, wastepaper baskets, jars, photograph albums, picture frames and note books. Belts are decorated as well as key chains and luggage.

If you have access to cigar bands (rounding up those used by friends, neighbors and even trades people who will no doubt enjoy passing 'hem on to you) you might try your luck at the project.

Before you begin decorating, open the cigar bands so they lie flat. Cut the back of the bands, if necessary, at the side of the joining. Spread the bands out, face up, and you will be able to choose the color and shape for any part of your design without searching. Apply glue with a small brush or cotton swab to the back of the band and place the band on the article you are decorating. Press it down firmly with your finger for a minute or so, allowing to set and the excess blue to escape. Remove excess glue with a damp sponge.

After the bands have been put on the object, apply a coat of white shellac to articles that may get a lot of handling, it will be easier to dust them.

This same technique may be applied for floral effects, the decoupage method that has been revived in recent years — the pasting of colorful flower photographs or sketches inside glass items and down.

A pretty effect may be achieved when glass is used by first lining the object with cigar bands or floral pictures, gluing down and then fitting colorful felt in behind the pictures. Red is most popular but new colorful felts in decorator colors lend themselves nicely to this scheme.

As with any fad, this one can only look chic it is not run into the ground. Avoid willy-nilly motif, and be sure you have a plan before you decorate even one item.

Another idea to dress up a bare wall is to paste bands or other decorations on paper plates in an interesting motif around the rim, shellacking over - all. These do not look anything like paper plates if properly done. First paint the background of the plate — black, yellow, red, blue or what have you. Then paste on your design. An over-all design is best and proves very eye catching when up on the wall.

June Graduates Growing Taller Heads Bigger

NEW YORK (UP)— June graduates' heads are getting bigger.

The nation's cap and gown industry reports this trend, without speculating whether the cause is cramming on food full of vitamins, or on food for thought.

Graduates also are taller, on the average.

"Matter of fact, we find the graduates are spreading both ways," reported one cap and gown manufacturer who didn't want his name used.

Both Sexes

"This seems to apply to both boys and girls," he continued. 'We now frequently measure gowns for high school seniors — boys — who are six feet three and four.

"A cap size of 7 1-2 or 7 5-8 used to be a rarity . . now both are commonplace, sand H. B. Rudnick, vice president of Cox Sons and Vining, Inc., a 120-year-old firm.

The industry, which is moving into its peak season, reported more variety in color and fabrics in commencement attire. Otherwise, little change in the traditional robe, whose ancestry can be traced to medieval times.

"Academic people are conservative people," said Rudnick. "If anything, the college traditions are getting more so."

Zippers Installed

"About the only modernization I can think of is in the addition of the zipper instead of hook-and-eye closing." said Mrs. Catherine Ciraci, of the New York office of the Collegiate Cap and Gown Co.

Black remains a "must" for collegians, with a couple of exceptions. Rudnick said men receiving a doctorate at Yale may wear Yale blue, those receiving a doctorate at Harvard may wear the Harvard crimson.

It is at the high school level where such shades as royal, navy and powder blue, gray, maroon and white have moved in on the black, said Mrs. Ciraci.

ROLLING YOUR OWN

When applying paint with a roller, always begin on an unfinished area and work toward a finished space. It makes a smoother job.

Try Dressing To A Fault Is A Beauty Tip

By VIVIAN BROWN
(P)Newsfeatures Writer

You need not be the prettiest girl in your set to make the best impression. Sometimes all a girl needs to be the most attractive and best-groomed is a figure falult or a cosmetics problem. She is likely to give more attention to her appearance than the girl who is heavily endowed with Mother Nature's blessings.

The girl who dresses to camouflage a figure-fault is likely to shop with more discernment than her figure - perfect sisters, choosing a wardrobe that brings out the best in her. If she is sandy-haired and pale-skinned she'll avoid colors that wash out her complexion such as pinks, blues, yellows, lilacs, popular summer colors. Red is a bad color for girls with blemished skins, and dark lifeless colors are a bad choice for olive-skinned, brown-eyed types. Dark colors may make the skin look even drabber, and girls with dark complexions need vivid shades and pastels to liven up their complexions.

Fat girls may look leaner by choosing garment styles that cut down the breadth. They must avoid horizontal stripes and ruffles that will broaden them even more. Ditto large floral patterned dresses and swimsuits. Skin tight swim suits and play suits play up plumpness too. Two-piece suits that show a fat tire at the midriff are bad styles for stocky ladies. Belts that emphasize top and bottom width should be scorned. Ditto suits, unless man-tailored on straight lines.

Miss Plump should choose instead, solid colors, vertical stripes, glen plaid or tiny-patterned fabrics particularly those that button down front. Square color lines give the illusion of a slimmer bosom.

Skinny girls need to give an impression of more work, an easier job than disguising the fat silhouette. It's a good idea to wear dresses with sleeves to below-the elbow line, to avoid off the shoulder dresses that reveal bony shoulder or collar bones. Tight dresses are taboo for this type also and slim skirts are not preferred. Full skirts, shirred and ruffled bodices and blouses in floral patterns help a great deal. Wide belts worn loosely and large bows at the collar lines help add to width.

The tall skinny girl should avoid solid colors that give her an unbroken line except in suits, and the jackets should be boxy to give a fuller look. She may wear splashy floral patterns in dresses, bathing suits, housecoats.

Tall, skinny girls are inclined to sag or hump their shoulders in an effort to appear smaller; short, dumpy types veer toward a sloopy, straddle - legged appearance in efforts to appear casual and determined about their lack of beautiful form It's a good idea too, to strive for a silhouette of proper proportions by diet and exercise as one makes the best of it meanwhile with a wardrobe built for her type.

MISS JO ANNE FEDELE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fedele, of Baton Rouge, is engaged to James Albert Watkins, son of Mrs. R. M. Watkins, and the late Mr. Watkins, of this city. Their vows will be exchanged on Saturday, June 8, at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Baton Rouge.

Cooking Tips

Nearly half of all U.S. families will be doing at least some home canning in glass jars this year.

The making of glass containers was once a precious secret. During the so-called Second Golden Age of Glass which began about the Thirteenth Century in Venice, the Grand Council of Venice decreed death for any Venetian glassmaker who betrayed the secrets of his art.

Parsley stays garden fresh for long periods if dampened and placed in a glass jar with a tight-fitting lid and then stored in the refrigerator.

The flavor of tea may be improved by adding a small piece of dried orange peel to the teapot before pouring. Dried peel keeps well in an airtight glass jar.

One of the distinctive qualities of most glass containers is their transparency, yet all the materials that compose them — sand, soda ash and limetone — are opaque.

Glassmaking was America's first industry. Eight glassmakers landed at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1608.

'The Little Hut' Is Gay Comedy Of Shipwrecked

"The Little Hut" one of the outstanding comedies of the year, opens Saturday at the Jim Theatre. The film stars Ava Gardner, Stewart Granger, and David Niven.

This witty and ultra-sophisticated spoof on the vagaries of love and the incredible ingenuity in which one man proposes to make off with another man's wife in a preposterously funny but strictly above-board "share the spoils" agreement, had them laughing on Broadway before being adapted to the screen by F. Hugh Herbert, who also produced the film with Mark Robson for M-G-M release.

Herbert is the author of that previous memorable comedy gem, "The Moon Is Blue," and few are his equal in the realization of hilarious dialogue and rib-tickling situations.

The situation in "The Little Hut" is that of three eminently respectable and aristocratic Britishers. They are Susan Ashlow (Ava Gardner), who, neglected by her too-often-absent business tycoon husband, Sir Philip Ashlow (Stewart Granger), turns to career diplomat Henry Brittingham - Brett (David Niven), the man she almost married and who is still in love with her.

It is when the trio is shipwrecked on a tropical desert island that the complications set in. The practical and defthanded Philip sets out to make them all comfortable until they can be rescued. He builds a big hut for himself and Susan and a little neighboring hut for Henry. But Henry doesn't like being alone in the little hut. Susan, plotting to make the complacent husband who takes her for granted jealous, agrees to pretend that she and Henry have been deceiving him for years. The outcome of this deception temporarily makes Susan a woman once again free to choose a new husband. Does this mean that Philip loses her? Does Henry win her? Do they ever get off that island and out of these huts? You will have to see this riotous comedy yourself to find out the answers and to garner some of the loudest and lustiest laughs of your life.

ALL IN THE EAR

What you see in this girl's ear is Sonotone's new hearing aid – complete. IT'S WORN ENTIRELY IN THE EAR – no cord, no extra "button." This smallest Sonotone ever weighs only half an ounce, including smallest battery used in hearing aid.

Women, of course, cover everything with their hairdos. On men, this amazing hearing aid is barely noticeable from any angle.

You just have to see this new transistor masterpiece to believe it. Triumph of 25-year search by Sonotone engineers for hearing aid worn entirely in ear.

TV NOTES

It is a shame that a talent such as belongs to Jeannie Carson gets two strikes on it simply because the comedy series she did this season didn't hit the ratings hard enough to survive.

Regardless of what anyone may have thought of the Duke Ellington show, "A Drum is a Woman," the "U. S. Steel Hour," which put it on the CBS air, is to be congratulated for trying something of an off - beat nature by an outstanding talent.

"Armstrong Circle Theater" continues on NBC durjng the summer, but in the fall it will move to CBS as an alternate to the "U. S. Steel Hour" on Wednesday nights.

NBC has "RCA Victor Galaxy of Stars" scheduled for June 15 as a spectacular. Tony Martin, Julius La Rosa, Jaye P. Morgan and Georgia Gibbbs are among the performers.

Watch for "Lux Video Theater" on NBC to depart from its policy of presenting only scripts based on old movies to present some original TV scripts.

"Showboat" and "Porgy and Bess" are famous stage musicals likely to turn up on CBS next season.

"The Big Record" premiere on CBS will occur Sept. 18 instead of Sept. 25 as previously announced. Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p. m.

Situation That Calls For Frank Answer

A bride - to - be writes: "I sent out my wedding invitations about ten days ago and enclosed reply cards for guests to answer. The invitations were addressed to Mr. and Mrs. alone with no mention of the children. Replies are starting to come in and to my dismay several of them have included their children (so far there are six.) This is the one thing I wanted to avoid as I am having a sit-down receiption at a hotel where the charge is so much per person. Will you please tell me if there is anything I can do about this?"

The only thing you can do is to write and say: "We are very sorry but the reception is to be a sit-down breakfast to which unhappily the number is limited; and as much as we would like to include Mary and Tommy, if we do, all the other children will be hurt if they aren't invited."

Singing "Happy Birthday"

Dear Mrs. Post: When inviting friends to dinner in a restaurant to celebrate a birthday, is it wrong to have a birthday cake brought to the table by the waiter (which was ordered beforehand) and for the guests to sing Happy Birthday? I think this is out of place in a public restaurant, but there seems to be some disagreement. What is you opinion?

Answer: It would be quite all right to have a birthday cake brought to the table, but to sing Happy Birthday would be unthinkably conspicuous — unles it were in a room partly separated from the other diners.

Boy Friends Invited

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to give a surprise party for my daughter on her twenty - first birthday. I know all of her girl friends but do not know their boy friends. (Most of them have steady boy friends.) Will you please tell me how to address the invitations so that they will know their boy friends are invited too?

Answer: Write a personal note inviting them and at the end you would add, "We would be delighted to have you bring a man with you if you care to."

In Mrs. Post's leaflet E - 21, "Model Notes," she describes what to write when writing thank-you notes or notes of condolence. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Girl Scout News

Another fly - up to intermediate program was that of Troop 44, at Our Lady of Fatima School Monday afternoon. Mrs. Louis Breard, in the traditional candlelighting ceremony, invested the 15 girls who had completed the Tenderfoot requirements. As each girl made her Girl Scout Promise, her leader pinned on her the Girl Scout pin, admonishing her "to wear it proudly" and welcomed her into th. intermediate program wit' the Gi.l Scout handshake. The newly invested Scout then crossed over an improvised bridge from Brownie to Intermediate scouting. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the girls presented Mrs. Breard, Mrs. O. H. Lyon, and Mrs. Louis Hall, Jr., assistant leaders, with gifts from the troop in appreciation of the fun they have had together. Members of Troop 42, third - grade Brownies served punch and cookies to the group from a beautifully - decorated table. Brownies of Troop 42, mothers of the girls, Father Martinez, and the Sisters at the school, Miss Winona Probus, Girl Scout national staff member, and Miss Annis Klie, local professional worker, were invited guests.

The new Intermediate Scouts are: Julie Ann Ammon, Bonnie Baldo, Linda Ann Breard, Renee Ellen Breard, Ann Brinson, Anna Lea DuBos, Susan Myrie Ellington, Gale Ann Domingues, Anne Hall, Salley Hover, Loretta Jones, Paula Sue Lyon, Eileen Presse, Louise Treis, and Virginia Marie Treis.

Equally impressive was the ceremony held by Troop 4 in the late afternoon at Pine Wood, where the following girls were invested by their leaders, Mrs. C. H. Bird and Mrs. Dean Carter: Linda Sue Adams, Kathryn Louise Bird, Camille Carso, Melba Jean Carter, Phamie Colvin, Dianne Crawford, Ann Hanks, Carolyn Herbert, Arah Nadine LaGrange, Gloria Gene Lewis, Mary Eleanor Polk, Donna Anne Reed, and Cheri Southard.

Making the occasion even more memorable, the girls remained for an overnight, which the girls had carefslly planned in troop meetings. The leaders found that the careful planning and their own training resulted in more time for fun and a smooth - running camp. Kapers were fun, the girls reported. Campfire after the investiture consisted of games and singing, with the excitement afterward of getting to bed on the long porch. By the agreed - upon time, leaders report, every girl was quiet and soon asleep, and everyone obeyed the well - known rule of not getting up before the alarm went off — just putting into practice the fifth Girl Scout law.

With the practice the girls had had at the spring playday standing them in good stead, the girls built the right kind of fire and cooked breadtwists for breakfast. A review of trail signs, with one group laying a trail to the river and another group following it, was their morning activity. Afterward they prepared campfire stew for lunch, cleaned up the camp to leave it spic and span.

Our own camp at Pine Wood is available for day trips or overnights to all troops with the proper leadership and training. We're lucky to have it.

Many Visitors Touring Museum At College Here

By DORIS TYNES

It is gratifying to members of the Ouachita Genealogical and Historical Society to know that people are actually making the trip out to the Northeast State College to view our museum collection. Though we feel we barely have a beginning in the thing we are attempting to accomplish (i.e. the ultimate establishment of a permanent museum for this area), it is pleasant to have friends call and express their delight at what we have done thus far. Just this week one lady told us she had no idea that we had so many relics and such a variety of items. Some of our visitors of hate have been school children who have descended on us en masse, to view the Barringer Indian collection belonging to the college and our own assorted array.

The Museum Committee would like it understood, especially at this time of the year, that groups can view the collection any time, but those wishing to register in our guest book, and who desire to have various items explained to the children, will probably enjoy their trip more if they make an appointment with one of the committee to come out at a specific time. Though several school teachers have already made appointments for the last week of school, we will be glad to take the time to meet with any others who might still wish to bring their classes by. To make arrangements, call Mrs. Travis T. Tynes, phone FA 2-6476 or Mrs. R. N. Milling, FA 3-2481. After working so hard to get these things on display, it is a pleasure to be able to show them to interested groups.

Interest in things of an historical nature seems to be running high in our area at this time. The series of feature stories which have been run by the Monroe News-Star of late, have been thrilling to those who are interested in our past, and have served to increase interest among the disinterested and uninformed. A mimeographed leaflet prepared by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, entitled "A History of the City of Monroe" gives not only the history of our own city, but tells a great deal about West Monroe and other points of interest in our area as well. For those desiring to know more about our local history, we recommend this brochure.

Relics are still coming in, sometimes in a rush, sometimes more slowly, but always in a steady stream. There seems to be no end, and of course, for that we are grateful. Though our assurance that we appreciate the efforts being made by everyone is beginning to sound trite and shopworn, it is still nevertheless true. To those who have contributed and as yet have not been mentioned, we promise to make public recognition of your generosity in the near future. And to those who have offered items which have not as yet been picked up, we ask your patient indulgence. We'll be seeing you very soon.

In conclusion, may we say: "Isn't it wonderful and thrilling what can be done when people work together! In less than a year's time we have definitely acquired the nucleus of what will later become a dream - come-true: A museum in every sense of the word. And this has been accomplished not by one person, or even one group of people, but by citizens scattered all over this section of our state. Again we say many thanks, and now on we go to bigger and better things!

Bathing Suit Season Is Here Again; Select Your Favorite, Most Flattering Silhouette

The season brings bathing suits again. The one particular item that has been a target of criticism since their introduction in 1689.

These first suits were very large garments with a drawstring around the neck. The sleeves were voluminous so that when the wearer stepped down from the steps of her horse-drawn vehicle into the water, the garment floated up around her completely screening her from curious eyes.

In 1754, ankle-length flannel robes were worn over the suit, and tied around the neck. It floated out around the wearer when in the water. I'd say suitable for dunking, not swimming.

And suits looked like dresses of the ime, with mid-calf bloomers and black or white stockings, in 1870.

Then, 1930 brought backless bathing suits. Now, we are getting some place.

1957: For the modern girl! Deep dare-back sheaths, boldly backles and strapless; tight-leg, short, draped sheath, an hour glass; in wool jersey, cotton, checks, stripes, polka dots, or plain as old tank suits, but designed with inner features to improve on nature.

Some suits are cut to a deep V in the back scarcely an inch above the waistline. This innovation guarantees a sun tan that will fit the season's lowback gowns.

Others are shirred to soften the sheath line and a flared bra adds balance and top interest. There are gay patterns, stylized, or monotone prints to satisfy your every mood and figure type.

Cotton takes on a new importance in swimwear this season as cotton ensembles create the nucleus of your resort wardrobe. Ensembles are as important for leisure hours as for more formal occasions. You start with a swimsuit, add a matching jacket or skirt. Have fun with accessories and present a thoroughly pleasing picture.

If you're an active swimmer, like to dive and keep up on your Australian crawl, a wool suit is a must. It molds to your figure, swims with you, and keeps its shape, wet or dry. Select it though, with the same care that you would a fine foundation garment.

So, select your favorite and most flattering suit, and try it in a new vibrant color.

Helpful Hints For Summer Cruise Wardrobe

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The mounting cost of crime and criminals is putting fresh pressure today on already bulging budgets of federal, state and local governments.

At the rate the number of prisoners is increasing and at the rate older prisons and jails are becoming rundown or overcrowded, some prison authorities predict that the taxpayer will be asked to put up one billion dollars by 1975 for new bastiles. The cost of keeping up the buildings and guarding prisoners also is rising.

Others, however, say that if there were a bigger shift away from the fortress type prison, both construction and maintenance figures could be sharply cut without loss of security.

Most existing prisons are the maximum security type. To build more like this would cost today about $15,000 an inmate, the federal Bureau of Prisons estimates. It says a medium-security, correctional type can be built for about $5,000 an inmate. Camps in rural areas for minimum custody offenders cost about $2,000 an inmate.

James V. Bennett, federal prison director, says 315,000 prisoners are now held around the country on felony convictions, with about 185,000 of them jailed for serious crimes. Add those held on non-felony charges and those awaiting trial and the prison population averages about 800,000 and is rising.

Clarence B. Litchfield, of the New York architectural firm of Lapierre, Litchfield & Partners, which has been designing correctional institutions for 40 years, says about 15 per cent of the prison population is of the confirmed criminal type which can't be rehabilitated.

He holds that the others should be screened thoroughly and divided up among medium-security prisons, rehabilitation institutions and prison camps where cosfly walls and guarding aren't needed.

MISS LINDA FAYE McCLOUD'S engagement to Danell D•an Waldrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Waldrop, of Grayson, is announced by her mother, Mrs. Faye McCloud. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride on June 5th, with the Rev. Hugh E. Bradshaw officiating. Miss McCloud is a graduate of the West Monroe High School and Mr. Waldrop attended Grayson High School.

Cooking Tips

To keep steel wool pads from rusting, wrap in waxed pape. when not in use.

To heat commercially canned vegetables, drain the liquid into a saucepar and boil it rapidly before adding the vegetable to heat.

Cut down eye strain while knitting by having two sets of needles—light - colored ones for dark yarn and dark needles for light yarn.

Remove cellophane from lampshades as soon as you buy them. The wrapping will cause the lampshade to warp if left on too long.

Light Treatment On The Fall Of Sex

THE DECLINE AND FALL OF SEX, with some Curious Digressions on the Subject of True Love, By Robert Elliot Fitch, Harcourt, Brace.

Congregational minister, teacher of religions and philosophy, and dean of the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Fitch should have been spared any exposure to such a coarse animal activity as sex.

Or so you might suppose. But he also reads, even modern novels, and there in particular he has come up smack against it. In this devastating volume of essays, he considers sex in all aspects, main dish and dessert, with and without marriage, hetero and homo and libido, fleeting and everlasting — Elinor Glyn's "Three Weeks" and James Jones' "From Here to Eternity."

Romeo and Juliet, Tristan and Iseult are the ultimate ideal lovers who talked more about love than they ever, on paper, indulged in sex.

But in Shakespeare's bawdy nurse, Fitch shrewdly identifies a true modern character. Today's emancipated hero and heroine, he says, have been very hard to catch out of bed. Then after a climatic period of surfeit, with a young generation "sick of sex," Fitch expects us now to put sex back in its place in the family, and restore its love and tenderness.

Novelists don't give us their idea of sex, but our idea of it; they didn't lead their generation into adultery, obscenity and the bordello, they found the generation already there. Fitch twists our arm a bit: "Sick of sex" is too extreme, and to lump Glyn, Hemingway and Metalious in the same book is unfair. But Fitch has a sharp keen wit, and you never saw a sober and serious crusade waged with such jokes and quips. He laughs the wicked right out of their sinful beds.

Top Stories By Sean O'Faolain In New Book

The Finest Stories of Sean O'Faolain (Atlantic — Little, Brown) is the author's own selection of the cream of the short fiction he has produced, along with three novels, a play and half a dozen works of miscellaneous nonfiction, in a prolific 30-year career as a professional writer.

O'Faolain is a chronicler of Ireland, and his stories are overwhelmingly Irish. One in this collection, "A Born Genius," reflects the knowledge of New York and Boston that the author acquired as a Harvard student 30-odd years ago, but even that is laid mainly in Ireland.

The author loves his country, but he is sometimes exasperated by his countrymen.

"When it comes to writing about people who, like the Irish of our day, combine beautiful, palpitating tea-rose souls with hard, coolly calculating heads, there does not seem to be any way at all of writing about them except satirically or angrily," he says in a foreword.

"Once a writer's eye gets chilly about their beautiful souls he becomes like the only sober man at a drunken party, and the only decent thing for him to do then is either to get blind drunk . . . or else to go home and scrub himself clean in a raging satire."

Besides expressing a viewpoint, that passage is a reasonable sample of O'Faolain's amiably perceptive prose. He seldom succeeds at satire, despite his prescription for the modern Irish writer, probably because "I still have much too soft a corner for the old land."

The Finest Stories are very fine indeed — vignettes of Irish life that are sometimes amusing sometimes touching and sometimes both. . . .

STAMP NEWS

U. S. Will Issue Special Flag Bearing Stamp

The United States will do a little flag waving via a postage stamp this July 4. A new 4-cent commemorative portraying the Stars and Stripes in natural colors will be issued at Washington, D. C.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has been conducting experiments in printing bicolor stamps on a new press acquired from Switzerland. The bureau now believes these experiments have reached the point where it can produce multicolor stamps in a fast and economical mannner.

The central design is the U. S. flag waving in the breeze. The quotation "Long May It Wave" is shown directly beneath the flag.

Stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4-center may send their addressed envelopes, together with money orders to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, 13, D. C., prior to July 4.

The U. S. 3-cent International Naval Review - Jamestown Festival stamp discussed previously in this column will be placed on sale June 10 at Norfolk, Va.

For first day covers of the 3-center, collectors should send their addressed envelopes with money orders to the Postmaster, Norfolk, Va., before June 10.

All first day covers for this particular stamp will be cancelled aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga with a special die reading "U. S. S. SARATOGA, Norfolk, Va."

Collectors should remember that their requests for first day cancellations always should be endorsed "First Day Covers" on the outside envelope to the Postmaster.

Cuba has issued an interesting new sports set of four stamps, reports the New York Stamp Co. The 8 centavos green shows a baseball player. The 12 centavos violet depicts a ballerina. The 24 centavos blue illustrates a diver. The 30 centavos orange pictures a boxing match.

A report from the consulate general of Pakistan reveals that a new set of commemoratives soon will be issued to honor the "Centenary of the Struggle for Independence of 1857."

Federal Career Told In Novel

By TED HOLMES

GOVERMENT SERVICE AS A CAREER, H. G. Richey, (Vantage Press, New York).

In the strict sense, the title of Richey's book is a misnomer. The author gives no general treatment to the subject of government service as a career. Rather, he tells the story of his own life, most of which he happened to spend in work for the federal government.

Richey began his working life as carpenter's apprentice and retired as a district engineer in the Public Buildings branch if the Procurement Division of the government. The intervening years took him step by step through various posts connected with inspecting and supervising the construction of federal buildings all over the country, and provided close-up views of chicancery and honesty, bungling and competence, politics and "pull," humor and sadness, the horse-and-buggy days and the roaring, racing present.

Richey digresses often in his story to give interesting sidelights and observations about various and sundry subjects which might come to his mind, even though most of them have no relation whatever government service as a career. One such instant is a three-page discourse on the various degrees of mixtures of Negro, French, Spanish, and Indian blood among the population of Louisiana.

The aged engineer makes no attempt to write either a generalized or specialized documentary on government service. He writes in the language of a man now 89 years old, reminiscing over a long life and his experiences in erecting government buildings for 36 years. Some of his memories are humorous, some sad. Many reveal the quee. turns of fate which often master, rather than be mastered by, men's lives.

The book's primary attraction for Louisiana readers probably lies in the fact that most of Richey's working years were spent in New Orleans and he remained there when he retired. Consequently, his writing is sprinkled with numerous bits of information on Louisiana history, culture and tradition.

It also gives a clear picture of the peculiarities of government dealings. By eading this book, a prospective government employe probably can get an idea of what he might face in his future job, regardless of what field he might be working in.

'First Haircut' Natural Picture

By JOHN OLDENBURG
Camera Editor

It seems that th shutter bugs of the Twin Cities area are getting more and more picture conscious. The above pictures illustrates again a new wrinkle in cute moments in a child's life, which is not only story-telling, but unique in originality.

No doubt many pictures like these have been taken, but very few get to see the light of publicity on the printed page. Thanks to Mrs. Frances L. White of 1212 Ridge Avenue, West Monroe, for using forethought as she approached this great stem in her two-year-old's life — the first haircut.

Mrs. White and her sister, Mrs. Elaine Bruce, together carried little Kim White to the barber shop. If this writer has any knowledge of the tribulations of a "first haircut," it probably was a miser loves-company deal as they went together. But their forethought in bringing along the Brownie 620 Flash camera was excellent.

Expressions in these pictures are priceless and, of course, the background tells the story to a T. A little more care should have been exercised in framing the picture as little Kim's feet did not show in the last one.

Thanks again for a very interesting set of pictures and a new idea for us Uhoto-bugs.

Load up and start shooting some more — vacation time is camera time.

The Turn Of The Tide Is History Of The War Years

THE TURN OF THE TIDE: A History of the War Years Based on the Diaries of Field-Marshal Lord Alambrooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, By Arthur Bryant, Doubleday.

"Brookie," as Churchill called him varyingly in irritation, respect and affection, was Britain's grand panjandrum of planning. He served under Gort in France; after a 36-hour sleep to recover from the Dunkirk catastrophe, he took command of the defenses of the isolated island, and was promoted C. I. G. S.

That record sleep was about the last he enjoyesd undisturbed till the tide turned. Churchill was indefatigable, and Alanbrooke his shadow.

In effort Alanbrooke fought not only the big hot war but also fierce little cold wars all his own: against Churchill's tendency to fritter away strength, against defaulting French and Belgians, against Americans particularly. He had no patience with what he called a disastrously premature Channel crossing but preferred the Africa - Sicily - Italy strategy. He got his way.

I can only hint at the unique flavor of this vivid volume. Utterly absorbing pictures of Churchill are matched with reflections, often tart, on Eisenhower, Stimson, Marshall and King. There is exalted praise of Alanbrooke, reminding you of Willoughby's adulation of Mac-Arthur, whom incidentally Alanbrooke lauds highly. Events seem to have corroborated a lot of this, yet it will stir up a fury of argument. This pair of Englishmen does not think as highly of us Americans as we Americans do. Agree or not, you find here such dazzling, intimate insights into war-making as you never glimpsed before, and they are set in the dramatic, frank context of magnetic personalities. This is invaluable history.

An Excellent Western Story

RIDERS OF JUDGMENT. By Frederick Manfred. Random House.

Cattle and the deadly rivalries of the brutal, lawless range form the background for this story of three brothers, Cain, Harry and Dale Hammett. They have some deaths to avenge, and an army of enemies block their path, among them Link, Jesse and Mitch. Their cause triumphs even at the cost of some lives. I have never found Frederick Manfred quite the equal of the remarkable Feike Feikema, the name under which he first wrote, but he is certainly catching up.

Mayflower Crew Dining On Pilgrim Fare Of Old

The hardy crew of Mayflower II, now duplicating the voyage of the original Mayflower, dines on Pilgrim fare of biscuits, salted beef and pork. But also on board are such modern dishes as rock lobster, baked beans, spaghetti, ox tongue, mushrooms and vegetables.

However, the present-day sailors are getting along without one luxury that helped sustain the Pilgrims on their hazardous trip—beer. Mayflower II has substituted water tanks for the original ship's beer casks.

The Limehouse victualing firm of Burnyeat, Ltd., stocked Mayflower II with a large variety of canned goods, a necessary sacrifice to authenticity because 17th century ship supplies provided a mountainous and dangerous diet that lacked vitamins. Many passengers and crew members on the first Mayflower suffered from scurvy during the two-month voyage.

Provisioning the ship with modern foods was easy, but the victualers had some trouble reproducing the old foods. They searched most of England before they found a butcher who knew the almost lost art of salting meat in the traditional manner.

Capt. Alan Villiers, Mayflower II commander, rationalized the inclusion of canned goods, powdered eggs and tinned fruit juices on the ground that preserved food was known in the Pilgrims' time and Sir Francis Drake was known to have taken declicacies in sealed jars on his voyages.

A Book On Travel Is Good Reading

"20,000 Miles South" is a book written by a California couple, Helen and Frank Schreider, and published by Random House, and should appeal to those people who in their dreams and desires travel the American continents. It is an adventure of a drive, which often turns into a swim or worse, in a seagoing jeep from the Arctic Circle to the Tierra del Fuego, the two extremeties of the American continents.

The book traces this almost impossible trip, but as would be expected highlights some of the more interesting places along the route. However, with the exception of the localities the stories are pretty much the same.

One of the more interesting experiences of the book was in Managua, Nicaragua, where the lack of fluency in Spanish caused an embarrassment, but an amusing incident. Due to the lack of sufficient money, the couple had asked a man where they might find a place for the night, a park or some other place they could park their vehicle, La Tortuga, as they had affectionately named it. Following the directions, the couple went to an apparently well-kept park, spent the night and were awakened the following morning by the gardener who inquired if they would like to bath for the day. As they prepared to leave, they asked the gardener what the "public building" was in the center of the garden, only to be told "It's not public. That's the residence of the American ambassador. You've been sleeping in his garden."

As they continued on their way south, they were continuously confronted with persons baffled by the vehicle — a seagoing jeep complete with extra gas tanks, tenting, and for the watery part of the trip, a rudder. As they continued on the paved highway in the Panama Canal Zone, they were hailed over by a traffic officer only to be told, "That was a mean trick, but when I saw this thing going by, I just had to get a good look at it."

"20,000 Miles South" was written by Mrs. Schreider as a "log" for herself, as notes in the event she wrote a book, which she and her husband did. However, through it all the couple has maintained the interest of persons seeing for the first time, enjoying the pleasures taken as "normal" by those south of the borders, but to the average citizen of the Unites States exotic and appealing.

Their mention of plans for another trip, and consequent book, will no doubt be awaited by those who "travel in the swivel chair.,"

Guide To Good Reading Now At The Ouachita Parish Public Library

FRANCES FLANDERS, Librarian

As the vacation period approaches, it is wise to make plans for your summer reading. Now is the time to catch up on all of the books that you have been too busy to read during the year. Each summer the library plans a very active reading club for the children of the parish and we hope that all parents with school age children will see that they take advantage of this project.

HISTORICAL NOVELS

New books continue to arrive each week and there is sure to be something for each individual taste. One of the most interesting characters of history is Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror and she has been the subject of many stories. The latest one was written by Noel B. Gerson and is called "The Conqueror's Wife." It is a thrilling story of love, intrigue and action. It is one which will make the pages of history more vivid and one that everyone who likes historical novels will want to read. A most unusual book is a new title by Robert Graves called "They Hanged My Saintly Billy". It is based on the life of William Palmer, whose murder trial was one of the most notorious held in England during the last century. It won't appeal to every reader, but there will be many who enjoy it.

March Cost has a new novel called "Her Grace Presents". It is the story of an English duchess, whose career has been a most unusual one. She reviews the events of her past life when it seems that exposure is certain. It is a most enthralling story and will appeal especially to women.

AFRICAN SETTING

In recent years there has been a great interest in books with an African setting. One of the best writers about the African scene is Daphne Rooke, who was born and lives in South Africa. Her latest novel is called 'Wizards' Country." It is a story of the Zulus and their ways and will do more than anything which has been previously written to interpret them to the world.

Another historical novel written by a master of the field is "Fire and the Morning" by Francis Leary. This book deals with the life of Richard III, one of the most dashing of all English kings, a man of great gifts and relentless ambition, who lacked only pity and love. This book takes place when the Wars of the Roses between the houses of Lancaster and York were drawing to a close and the future of the nation rested on the fate of two young boys in the tower. This is an exciting story and, although it has been told before, it is still interesting reading.

SHOW BUSINESS

One of the funniest writers who portrays the modern scene is Richard Bissell. He was the author of a book called '7½ Cents" from which the play "The Pajama Game" was made. His new book is called "Say Darling". Into this story he has crammed all of the wisecracking, big - money, gaudy and glamorous world of Broadway and has definitely proven the statement "There's no business like show business." "Ill Wind" by W. L. Heath is a contemporary novel with a setting in a town that could be anywhere. It is the story of a leading citizen and what happened when he was accidentally shot. It is a very vivid story and one that you will not want to miss.

LOUISIANA SETTING

Stories with a Louisiana background are probably the most popular in the entire library collection and we are always happy when we are able to provide a new one. Garland Roark is a writer of note and stature and his latest novel is called "The Cruel Cocks." It has its setting along Bayou Lafourche and is centered around the sport of cock fighting.

"The Flying Fox" by Mary McMinnies is a completely enthralling story of an unscrupulous man and his effect on a British colony in Malaya. She has drawn a fascinating portrait of a man who spread desolation and trouble and has given us a very illuminating picture of contemporary colonial life. Readers who like the work of J. P. Marqu and will be very interested in the "The Wapshot Chronicle" by John Cheever which reminds one very much of Marquand's work. It has its setting in a New England town and shows the effect of the background on the people who go out from it. Don't miss "The Wapshot Chronicle" if you like the sophisticated novel.

"COMPULSION"

This week we added to our collection a book which I hesitated to purchase for sometime, because I did not think people would want to read it. However, we had so many requests that I ordered "Compulsion" by Meyer Levin. This is an account of the Leopold Loeb case and has been on the best seller list for sometime. I don't intend to read it, but it is here for those who feel that they will enjoy it.

A perfectly delightful book, written in the true Saroyan style is "Papa, You're Crazy." This is a book which his fans will eagerly read and which we predict will bring him new devotees.

Your public library is ready and eager to serve you and we invite all of you to come in and take advantage of its resources.

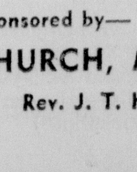
GOD LOVES EVERY PERSON

During the war a young soldier was seriously injured in battle. He lingered a long time in the hospitals and finally was discharged to go home to die. He waited cheerfully, having committed himself wholly unto God. When the waiting was over his parents went to sit by his body in the funeral home. Scores of friends came offering words of love and sympathy. One of the last to come was an unthoughtful woman whose lack of faith was well known. She said to the boy's mother, "Where was God when your son died?"

For a moment the mother was overwhelmed. How could she answer that question in so tragic an hour? Then the answer came. She said kindly: "I'll tell you where God was when my son died. He was at the same place he was when his son died, in heaven reaching out in love and compassion for my son and your son."

Few stories could illustrate so well as this one the meaning of the teachings found in the Bible. God's book tells of God's love. It tells of the place of his Son in proving that love. And the Bible tells that life is far from futile, and that death is only a door to the life to come for those who live within the circle of God's love.

The Bible plainly teaches that "God is love" (1 John 4:8). For example, John, the disciple who followed Jesus as he taught and healed people, also tells us, "Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us" (1 John 3:16); and records for us the words of Jesus, "Thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world" (John 17:24). God loved us as sinners, for he "commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Romans 5:8).



Yes, these are the great truths that God's word teaches. Through his word, God speaks personally to you. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

Have you ever tried putting yourself into that verse? Try it now by substituting your name for the word "whosoever." If you will do that in faith you will begin to understand the abiding love of God that makes sense out of the puzzles of life. "All things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Romans 8:28).

Yes, this is what the Bible teaches, and this is what Baptists believe. Would you like to know more? We invite you to attend a Baptist church convenient to you or call its pastor.

'Untamed Youth' Rock-And-Roll Story Of Youth

"Untamed Youth" starring Mamie Van Doren, is a story of rock-and-roll wild kids and is presented by Warner Brothers. The film opens June 6 at the Paramount Theatre.

Also starring in the cast are Lori Nelson, John Russell, Don Burnett, Lurene Tuttle and Eddie Cochran.

"Untamed Youth" reveals the operation of a terror system which sends kids-gone-wrong to a "correction" farm where they become the prey of unscrupulous overseers.

Mamie Van Doren stars as Penny Low in "Untamed Youth." This is Miss Van Doren's first motion picture assignment at Warner Bros. and her second free-lance picture since her release from another studio. In "Untamed Youth the curvaceous Mamie reportedly sings and dances to the latest rock and roll music.

As Miss Van Doren's sister in the film, Lori Nelson returns to Warner Bros. studios where she most recently appeared with Jack Palance and Shelley Winters in "I Died A Thousand Times," and in "Sincerely Yours," starring Liberace. Considered one of Hollywood's most versatile young stars, Miss Nelson makes a switch from sweet-young-girl parts to one with spice and verve in "Untamed Youth."

Much of the motion picture was filmed on location about twenty miles south of Bakersfield, Calif., where an authentic correction farm, complete with dormitories was built. It is in these dormitories that the secretive, though not so quiet, rock and roll parties are held and Mamie Van Doren reveals the hitherto unseen talents as a rock and roll dancer and singer.

Famed composer and bandleader, Les Baxter wrote the music for the film, including the four numbers done by Mamie Van Doren. They are, "Rolling Stone," "Salamander," "Oo Ba La Baby" and "You Ain't Gonna Make A Cottonpicker Out Of Me."

The team of Aubrey Schenck and Howard W. Koch produced and directed the film respectively John C. Higgins wrote the screenplay for "Untamed Youth."

Seek Establishment OF Oil, Gas Commission

BATON ROUGE, May 25—UP—Two legislators today urged establishment of a Louisiana Oil and Gas Commission which they said would bring the state $6 million a year from mineral recovery and development.

State Reps. H. E. Donaldson of Allen and Willard Rambo of Grant said they will not push for creation of the commission in current session of the Legislature. But they said Louisiana cannot afford to wait more than another year.

Their proposed development and recovery commission would have power to check into the status of state mineral leases, especially where non-development is costing the state money.

Where leases were not being properly developed, the commission would have power to alter the terms of the leases.

"It is thought the state could receive from $6 million or more a year if this program goes into effect," Donaldson said.

The two House members dropped their plans to back a commission bill this month in the legislative session.

Meanwhile, the Senate will open the third week of the 30-day fiscal session at 7 p.m. Sunday. The House-approved $411 million general appropriations bill will be assigned to the Senate finance committee.

The bill is expected to whiz through in the same manner it passed the House 84-1 Thursday.

A top administration opponent, Sen. Jackson B. Davis of Shreveport, said there will be 'no concerted effort to change the bill."

The House returns to action at 7 p.m. Monday to tackle the bulk of 197 bills introduced in the lower chamber. Most of them are special appropriations bills which total $15 million.

Rep. Sam Cashio of Iberville, chairman of the House appropriations committee, said most of the money bills are headed for the ashcan.

"Even if they pass both Houses, the governor will have to veto them," he said. "We only have about $200,000 left for 1957 - 58 spending outside budgeted money."

At the end of the 1956 session, Gov. Earl Long vetoed more than $100 million in special money bills.

Legislators have not expressed themselves publicly on Rambo's and Donaldson's commission proposal.

Both solons said the commission would work with the state mineral board and other state agencies in its recovery program.

"There are at least a million acres of land owned by the state that is being held for production," Rambo said. "Of this a big percentage is not being properly developed."

They said the commission could make a production audit which, if it showed even a small error could produce millions in state revenues.

"In many cases the state has leased land and proper development has not been made," they said.

They said the state mineral board had the power to make the recovery, but had not done so because of a lack of personnel and staff workers.

Try For The Best In Life, Aggie Grads Advised

COLLEGE STATION, May 25 (UP)—A graduating class of 897 students at Texas A&M College was challenged today to "make your education a way of life — the full life."

The Rt. Rev. Everett H. Jones of San Antonio, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, made the joint baccalaureate-commencement address.

"Don't be content with anything less than the best in life or all there is to it," he said. "And remember, that no man is educated until he knows how to work, how to play, how to love and how to pray."

President D. W. Williams of the college introduced the speaker and presented the valedictorian, Wallace Lee Kleb of Houston, a veterinary medicine graduating senior.

Reserve commissions went to 131 Air Force cadets and 201 Army cadets at afternoon ceremonies.

Expect Move To Lower FHA Home Loans

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Senate takes up the omnibus housing bill Monday and Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) said today some move probably will be made during the debate to lower down payments on FHA-insured home loans.

The bill contains various housing authorizations totaling almost 2½ billion dollars.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), floor manager for the measure, succeeded in writing lower down payments on FHA loans into the bill as it came from the housing subcommittee which he heads.

But these were wiped out in the full banking committee, even though Sparkman argued that the lower initial payments would help many low and middle income families to buy new homes.

Smathers said, however, that he expected many Democrats to support the lower payments on the floor.

"We'll have some discussions on it," he said "If we see we're making some progress, we'll try to put in an amendment."

The present requirement is 5 per cent on the first $9,000 of the cost of a home and 25 per cent over that. Sparkman proposed to make it 2 per cent on the first $12,000, 35 per cent above that.

FREEDOM 'LIKE A DREAM'—George Kimes, 53, notorious Oklahoma bank robber of a generation ago, is now working on a 1,739-acre farm near Warner, Oklahoma, after being recommended for parole from McAlester prison. He served almost 30 years of a 50-year sentence for bank robbery, and just before that had received a 25-year sentence for manslaughter in the killing of a deputy sheriff. "I believe the best thing about being out is being on your own," Kimes said. (AP Wirephoto)

Student teachers were encouraged to discover how readily school children had accepted them as qualified teachers.

Hero's Body Unclaimed In N. Y. Morgue

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The body of William H. Gowan, 72, one of the few to win the Medal of Honor in peacetime, lay on a morgue slab today.

His body, unclaimed by relatives or the Navy in which he served with "bravery and extraordinary heroism" —has been in Kings County Brooklyn Hospital morgue since Wednesday.

Unless the body is claimed, Gowan may be buried on Hart's Island, New York's "Potter's Field."

President Taft presented the medal to Gowan in 1909 for his heroism in rescuing shipmates after a fire and explosion on a Navy vessel in Chile.

In 1942 Gowan retired from the Navy and went to work for a rope-making firm in Queens. On Wednesday, seated at his machine, he toppled over, his head striking the concrete floor. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Police have been trying in vain to contact a brother believed to be living in the city, and a married sister said to live in New Canaan, Conn.

As for the Navy, an official said if the Navy enlisted active officer here were notified, something could be done - there is a special fund for such contingencies.

AMAZING! BUT FOR MR. SWEENEY'S HONESTY, YOU'D NEVER HAVE GOTTEN BACK YOUR $500,000, SPEARMINT.

EXACTLY, AND I'M DETERMINED TO REWARD HIM.

BUT YOU OFFERED HIM $10,000, AND HE REFUSED IT.

THEN I MUST FIND A WAY TO REWARD HIM WITHOUT HIS KNOWING IT.

BUT HOW?

I HAVE IT! THESE PAINTINGS! I'LL HAVE JEROME SELL HIM ONE OF MY OLD MASTERS FOR A SONG, THEN BUY IT BACK FOR $75,000.

BUT I'M AFRAID I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT ART.

HMM... THEY'RE NOT VERY PRETTY.

PLEASE, SIR! MY KIDS NEED SHOES. TAKE YOUR PICK-- ONLY FIVE DOLLARS.

IF HE'S IN NEED, WE SHOULD HELP HIM, ROSCO.

OKAY, I'LL TAKE THIS ONE.

OF ALL THE DUMB CLUCKS! BUT I FINALLY SOLD HIM A VAN GOGH FOR $5.

SPLENDID! NOW GO BACK TOMORROW AND TELL HIM THERE'S BEEN A MISTAKE. BUY IT BACK FOR $75,000.

OH, THE PICTURE PEDDLER. BACK AGAIN?

YES. IT'S ABOUT THE PICTURE I SOLD YOU YESTERDAY.

WELL, UH, WE DECIDED WE DIDN'T LIKE THE PICTURE. I BURNED IT.

WHAT! YOU BURNED IT?

BUT WE LIKE THE FRAME.

IT'S JUST WHAT WE'VE ALWAYS WANTED FOR GRANDPA'S PHOTOGRAPH.

I CAN GET THE PHANTOM, MYSELF~KNOCK OFF THESE TWO, AND GET ALL THREE JARS OF GOLD FOR MYSELF!

EVER HEAR OF THE PHANTOM?

WHO IN JUNGLE HAS NOT?

WHERE DO YOU FIND HIM?

EVERYWHERE, ANYWHERE. YOU DO NOT FIND THE PHANTOM. HE FINDS YOU.

WHAT'S HE LIKE? RUGGED?

GOOD SHOT?

EDDIE, I'VE DECIDED TO ALLOW YOU TO KISS ME!

THAT'S MORE LIKE IT, POTEET!

WE COULD DRIVE UP BY THE LAKE—IT'S—IT'S MORE ROMANTIC!

WHY, SURE!—I'LL BE RIGHT OVER!

POTEET IS COMING...

EEEEE

AND DON'T EXPECT ANY NONSENSE! I'LL BE THE BOSS FROM NOW ON!

LET ME SEE THAT PURSE! I DON'T WANT YOU RECORDING OUR CONVERSATION ON A PORTABLE MACHINE...

IT'S ONLY A PURSE!

...IF YOU ARE GOING TO BE COLD-BLOODED ABOUT THIS, WHERE ARE THE LETTERS YOU WROTE ME—WITH FAKED FINGERPRINTS OF MY COUSIN STEVIE CANYON?! OUR BARGAIN WAS THAT YOU'D GIVE THEM BACK!

NOT AT ALL! YOU WILL BE MY GIRL FROM NOW ON! AND I'LL BLACKMAIL COL. CANYON THE FIRST INSTANT YOU TRY TO GET AWAY FROM ME...

IT SOUNDS AS IF YOU'VE GOT ME TRAPPED, EDDIE!

I KNEW I COULD NEVER INDUCE YOU TO GO STEADY WITH ME ANY OTHER WAY!—NOW KISS ME!

L-LET'S WALK OUT BY THE LAKE!.. IF A GIRL IS GOING TO BE KISSED, SHE AT LEAST WANTS IT TO SEEM ROMANTIC!
